WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13—10 A. M.

Maj.-Gen. Dix:

The following report of Gen. SHERIDAN'S operations has been received by this department.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Sec. of War.

CITY POINT, Va., March 12, 1865—7 P. M.

Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The following dispatch is just received.

U. S. GRANT, Lieut.-General.

HEADQUARTERS MIDDLE MILITARY DIVISION,
COLUMBIA, Va., Friday, March 10, 1865.

Lieut.-Gen. U. S. Grant, Commanding Armies of the United States:

GENERAL: In my last dispatch, dated Waynesboro, I gave you a brief account of the defeat of EARLY by CUSTER'S division. The same night this division was pushed across the Blue Ridge, and entered Charlottesville at 2 P. M. the next day. The Mayor of the city and the principal inhabitants came out and delivered up the keys of the public buildings.

I had to remain at Charlottesville two days. This time was consumed in bringing over from Waynesboro our ammunition and pontoon trains. The weather was horrible beyond description, and the rain incessant. The two divisions were during this time occupied in destroying the two large iron bridges, one over the Rivanna River, the other over Morse's Creek, near Charlottesville, and the railroad for a distance of eight miles in the direction of Lynchburgh.

On the 6th of March, I sent the First Division, Gen. DEVIN commanding, to Scottsville, on the James River with directions to send out light parties through the country and destroy all merchandise, mills, factories, bridges, etc., on the Rivanna River, the parties to join the division at Scottsville. The division then proceeded along the canal to Duguidsville, fifteen miles from Lynchburgh, destroying every lock, and in many places the bank of the canal. At Duguidsville we hoped to secure the bridge to let us cross the river, as our pontoons were useless on account of the high water. In this, however, we were foiled, as both this bridge and the bridge at Hardwicksville were burned by the enemy upon our approach. MERRITT accompanied this division.

The third division started at the same time from Charlottesville, and proceeded down the Lynchburgh Railroad to Amherst Court-house, destroying every bridge on the road, and in many places miles of the road. The bridges on this road are numerous, and some of them five hundred feet in length.

We have found great abundance in this country for our men and animals; in fact, the canal had been the great feeder of Richmond. At the Rockfish River, the bank of the canal was cut, and at New-Canton, where the dam is across the James, the guard lock was destroyed, and the James River let into the canal, carrying away the banks, and washing out the bottom of the canal.

The dam across the James at this point was also partially destroyed.

I have had no opposition. Everybody is bewildered by our movements. I have had no news of any kind since I left.

The latest Richmond paper was of the 4th, but contained nothing.

I omitted to mention that the bridges on the railroad from Swoop's Depot, on the other side of Staunton, to Charlottesville, were utterly destroyed; also, all bridges for a distance of ten miles on the Gordonsville Railroad.

The weather has been very bad indeed, raining hard every day, with the exception of four days since we started. My wagons have, from the state of the roads, detained me.

Up to the present time we have captured fourteen pieces of artillery, eleven at Waynesboro, and three at Charlottesville.

The party that I sent back from Waynesboro started with six pieces, but they were obliged to destroy two of the six for want of animals. The remaining eight pieces were thoroughly destroyed.

We have captured up to the present time twelve canal boats, laden with supplies, ammunition, rations, medical stores, etc.

I cannot speak in too high terms of Gens. MERRITT, CUSTER and DEVIN and the officers and men of their commands. They have waded through mud and water during this continuous rain, and are all in fine spirits and health.

Commodore HOLLINS, of the rebel navy, was shot near Gordonsville while attempting to make his escape from our advance in that direction. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

P. H. SHERIDAN,
Major-General Commanding.

Nothing New—Bad Weather and Worse Roads—Execution of Deserters, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LEFT WING ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Saturday, March 11, 1865—8 A. M.

HAIL AND RAIN.

Owing to the continued terrible state of the weather, and the awful condition of the roads and camps, it was almost impossible for any one to ride round our camps. It is almost unnecessary to say, therefore, that there is "no news." Nothing can be done for the present in the shape of active movements, and unless the enemy compels us, there will be no further or speedy resumption of campaigning or of battles.

EXECUTION OF DESERTERS.

Private FERDINAND BLOCK, Company A, Sixty-ninth New-York Volunteers, and private JOHN NICHOLAS, Company A, Sixty-ninth New-York Volunteers, were hanged yesterday at noon, for desertion, in the First Division, Second Army Corps, pursuant to General Court-martial Orders No. 11, Headquarters Army of the Potomac, in the presence of the division to which they belonged. The execution passed off very quietly.

A Fine Day—Review in the Second Corps—Visit of Lieut.-Gen. Grant.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Sunday, March 12, 1865—8 A. M.

I am again compelled to notice the weather, notwithstanding that I have made it the subject of a paragraph each day for the past week. Out here the weather forms the all-absorbing topic of conversation, for upon it hinges all our movements. A succession of fine days renders a movement probable, if not certain, while rain and storm puts a perfect quietus upon ideas of active operations. Yesterday was a clear, warm and sunshiny day, and much speculation is the result, especially as movements are going on in the rebel army.

Yesterday afternoon Gen. MOTT'S and Gen. HAYS' division of Gen. HUMPHREY'S corps were again reviewed by Gen. MEADE. The reason for a repetition of this ceremony is hard to give, unless, indeed, it was for the gratification of several ladies and gentlemen who were present. The review passed off very satisfactorily, and the appearance of the commands was admirable.

The extreme left of our line was visited yesterday by Lieut.-Gen. GRANT, and he was accompanied by several members of his staff, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mrs. Gen. GRANT and a numerous party of ladies and gentlemen, whose names it was difficult to obtain, owing to the crowd and the rapid movement of the party. The Lieutenant-General and his friends were also on the ground and witnessed the review in the Second Corps.

Movements of the Enemy—Reported Capture of Lynchburgh—More Lady Visitors—Deserters Still Coming, etc.

From Our Own Correspondent.

RIGHT WING, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Saturday, 8 A. M., March 11, 1865.

MOVEMENTS OF THE ENEMY.

It seems to be pretty well established that another considerable portion of Gen. LEE'S army, comprising all of MAHONE'S division, left our front last night. It is supposed they have been sent to arrest the movements of SHERIDAN, who, if reports are true, seems to have had matters pretty much his own way in the vicinity of Charlottesville, notwithstanding the reinforcements previously reported to have been dispatched to EARLY. Of course, the destination of this detachment cannot be positively known here, and the belief that it has gone in the direction indicated arises solely from the fact that deserters state that there is a great deal of apprehension expressed in Richmond relative to SHERIDAN'S movements. The rebels seem to fear him at present even more than SHERMAN.

REPORTED CAPTURE OF LYNCHBURGH.

A rebel corporal who came into our lines night before last, states that it was currently reported in LEE'S army that SHERIDAN has already captured Lynchburgh, after a brief battle, in which he succeeded in taking another large batch of prisoners. There is not much credit attached to this story, however, as it is not confirmed by other deserters who have come in subsequently, and who would certainly have heard the rumor if it had been general. The report that Lynchburgh has been attacked by SHERMAN'S army is, also, brought by deserters, and is probably nearer true than the other more flattering story. It is devoutly to be wished, however, that the corporal's statement may not long remain false, nor even doubtful, and it hardly will be if the latter report is correct.

LADY VISITORS AGAIN.

Another company of lady visitors honored us with their presence yesterday. They reached here on Thursday, but went immediately to the left and spent the time till night in making an inspection of that part of the encampment. Stopping at Army Headquarters all night, they intended yesterday to visit the camps on this wing, but were prevented by the disagreeableness of the weather. I believe they returned to City Point last evening.

STILL THEY COME.

Deserters from the enemy still continue to cross the lines every night. The number is not so large as it was during the season of dark nights, but it will still average from twenty-five to thirty per day. On Thursday night, which was very foggy, there were upwards of sixty reported at headquarters of the army.

AWARDS OF MERIT.

It is understood here that a general order, commending the officers and men who deserved credit by their conduct in the late Hatcher's Run affair, will be issued in a few days by the General commanding. It is stated that about one hundred and fifty persons will be included in the orders.

EXECUTION OF DESERTERS.

Private JOHN KELLY, of the Sixty-seventh Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, was shot, to-day, in full view of the Third Division of the Sixth Corps, in pursuance of the sentence of a court-martial, for the crime of desertion.

The Schooner Sea Gull Ashore—Farm Houses Robbed.

ATLANTIC CITY, Monday, March 13.

The Sea Gull, with a cargo of oysters, full of water, boat gone and no persons on board, came ashore on the night of the 11th instant, on Brigantine Beach.

A number of farm houses have recently been robbed by a gang of marauders, supposed to be deserters. On Saturday night, the people turned out and pursued the robbers, when a fight ensued. Two of the robbers were killed, and their bodies were found clad in Federal uniform. Their names are unknown. This gang of robbers have been living in caves in the neighborhood.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13, 1865—9:45 P. M.

Maj.-Gen. Jno. A. Dix:

The following dispatch has been received by this department

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

CITY POINT, Va., March 13, 1865.

Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The following has just been received:

WISES FORK, NEAR KINSTON, N. C., March 10, 1865.

To Lieut.-Gen. Grant:

The enemy made a heavy attack upon our centre and left, to-day, but were decisively repulsed with heavy loss. His dead and badly wounded were left upon the field. We also took several hundred prisoners. Our loss is small. Gen. COUCH is only 12 miles from here, to-night, and will be up early in the morning. We took prisoners from LEE'S and STEWART'S corps. They say two corps are here, and the rest of JOHNSTON'S army is coming.

J. M. SCHOFIELD, Maj.-Gen.

UNOFFICIAL REPORT.

Desperate Character of the Fighting—The Enemy Make Several Charges, and are Signally Repulsed.

NEWBERN, N. C., Saturday, March 11—9 A. M.

The enemy, elated with the capture of two or three small guns and a line of skirmishers in our front, made several charges yesterday of the most reckless character, in which they were repulsed each time with heavy loss. Our forces were well entrenched, and are now within three miles of Kinston, to which point the railroad is now completed. The enemy continue to receive reinforcements and evidently intend to make a stubborn resistance at Kinston.

Gen. COUCH'S division, from Wilmington, communicated with Major-Gen. Cox last night from Beaver Dam, a point he had just reached, which is eight miles from Gen. Cox's headquarters. Gen. COUCH joins Gen. Cox's forces this morning, which indicates a battle to-day.

The enemy show signs of weakness, and will doubtless fall back to the other side of the Neuse River, and make a stand in Kinston.

The rebel ram is stationed at Kinston to protect the bridge across the Neuse, which is quite an extensive structure.

It is reported by deserters that Gen. ROBERT E. LEE and Major-Gen. BRECKINRIDGE, from Richmond, visited Kinston and gave instructions.

Maj.-Gen. SCHOFIELD remains in the field with Maj.-Gen. Cox, giving every movement his personal attention.

The enemy are much alarmed and mystified in regard to SHERMAN'S movements. We expect to hear from him in a day or two.

Maj.-Gen. Cox has issued an order, congratulating his troops on the heroic manner in which they have met the enemy and successfully sustained themselves, thus far.

Gen. MARKLAND, the military mail agent, has arrived at Morehead City with a large mail for SHERMAN'S army, which he is waiting to deliver by way of Newbern.

BRAGG'S REPORTED VICTORY.

The Rebel Victory Dwindled Down to Nothing—A Few Skirmishers only Captured.

NEWBERN, N. C., Thursday, March 9—10 A. M.

Maj.-Gen. SCHOFIELD and his staff have arrived here, having left Wilmington on Monday last. They bring no news from SHERMAN. The enemy's papers are ignorant of SHERMAN'S whereabouts. The roads are bad, which delays his progress somewhat.

A letter was received here the other day from a young man who has been confined in Salisbury prison for the past two years, stating that he was liberated by the Union forces.

The enemy are in considerable force at Kinston, N. C., having been recently reinforced. LEE'S corps, from HOOD'S army, is reported there (?) Yesterday the enemy captured some of our skirmishers near Kinston, belonging to the Fifteenth Connecticut and Seventeenth Massachusetts. Maj. OSBORN, of the Fifteenth Connecticut, is reported wounded and a prisoner. Our captures will offset the enemy's thus far. Gen. BRAGG is reported to be in command of the enemy's forces at Kinston.

Maj.-Gen. J. D. COX, is in command of our forces at that point; he, as well as Gen. SCHOFIELD, is very popular with the troops, who are confident of success when a general move is ordered.

The weather is very warm with an occasional shower of rain.

A SECOND BATTLE—DEFEAT OF BRAGG

Bragg Makes Two Attacks on the 9th Inst., on the Lines of Gen. Cox, and is Twice Repulsed.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, March 13.

The Bulletin's Washington special dispatch says:

"A letter dated near Kinston, March 10, and received here at noon to-day, says that on the day before (the 9th) BRAGG again attacked COX'S forces, making two separate assaults, which were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy.

RUGER'S division of the Twenty-third Corps captured one piece of artillery and two hundred prisoners.

The enemy left the field in confusion, and all of their killed and wounded fell into our hands.

SUSPENSION OF THE DRAFT.

The Draft in the State of New-York Suspended as Long as Volunteers Come in Freely—Men Already Drafted not Required to Report.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, ALBANY, March 13, 1865.

Assurances are given me by the Provost-Marshal-General, through Lieut.-Gov. ALVORD, who visited Washington at my request, that no draft will be ordered in the State as long as or wherever recruiting is reasonably fast; and where a draft has already taken place, drafted men will not be required to report if volunteers are secured fast enough to give assurance that the quotas will be filled within a brief period. Boards of Enrollment must be kept busy. This indulgence should greatly stimulate to renewed efforts in securing volunteers. Our faith is pledged that such will be the result. I appeal to the people that it be kept.

R. E. FENTON.

FROM HAVANA.

The Blockade-Runner Ruby Captured—Arrival of Coolies—Singular Attempt at Piracy in Havana Harbor.

The steamship Liberty, Capt. T. W. WILSON, left Havana on Wednesday, 8th inst., at 4:30 P. M., and has experienced strong winds, and, for a part of the voyage, a heavy head sea. There is nothing of moment to report.

The blockade-runner Owl, Capt. MAFFIT, left Havana at noon same day, it was rumored, for Halifax.

The blockade-runner Ruby had been captured by Capt. R. W. SHUFELDT, and taken into Key West.

We have nothing of interest from Santo Domingo. The forces there are hourly awaiting orders to abandon the whole undertaking.

On the 4th the Spanish ship Emigrante arrived from Macao with 360 coolies, and on the 6th the Belgian ship Leopold Carteauk, with 407 coolies.

On the nights of the 4th and 5th our harbor was the scene of an attempt at piracy. The facts, as I am informed, are as follows: About 11 P. M., on the 4th, two boats approached the American steamer Shooting Star with muffled oars, one on each side. Only one of the boats was perceived at first, which seemed to contain about twenty men. The other boat had only three men. Finding the crew on the alert the large boat retired, but while attention was being called to it the other boat came alongside, and a man, unperceived by any of the crew, managed to get on board. Shortly afterward, however, he was discovered in the engine-room, when he was seized and handcuffed, but during the night he succeeded in getting the handcuffs off, jumped into the water, and called to the steamer Leox, which lowered a boat and picked him up.

On the 5th the Captain learned that another attempt would be made that night, and, in conjunction with friends on shore, applied to the Captain of the port for protection. It was communicated to the Captain-General, who ordered that a barge of armed men should be sent, and that the steamer should be towed under the guns of the Admiral's vessel. This was being done about midnight, when two boats appeared, coming toward the Shooting Star. The armed barge started and captured the boat, with 25 men in it, who were taken ashore and, my informants tell me, liberated.

I shall probably learn more, so as to advise per Corsica on Saturday. At present I only give the above as a report, not vouching for it.

The Owl, which I wrote you of in my last, as having refused to deliver up her "crew list" and other papers, has been detained. She has, I am told, between 60 and 70 men on board, over and above her complement of men.

The Francis has been receiving boxes of arms, ammunition, etc., and, I hear, even cannon; but whether to arm her as a corsair, or for transfer to another vessel, I have not heard.

MARCH 6.—Arrived, the English (?) steamer Asia, 926 tons, with coal, three and a half days from Nassau.

MARCH 4.—Sailed, English steamer Evelyn, for Belize, cleared by Messrs. M. A. HERRARA & Co., of this city.

The English (?) steamer Ruby, which left on the 26th ult., for Belize (?) was captured on the 27th by the Proteus.

Just as the English steamer was leaving Vera Cruz, news came that the Commandant of that city, Mr. MARSHAL, in the fight with the guerrillas, March 2, was shot dead with quite a number of his men.

FROM THE GULF DEPARTMENT.

Expedition from Baton Rouge—Clinton, La., Occupied—Large Bodies of Troops Moving Toward Mobile—New-York Steamships Taken for Transports.

NEW-ORLEANS, Tuesday March 7,
Via CAIRO, Monday, March 13.

Gen. BAILEY'S expedition from Baton Rouge into the interior of Louisiana and Mississippi consists of 3,000 cavalry, with a strong support of artillery. At last accounts the expedition occupied Clinton, La. This section of the country contains a majority of loyal people, and it is believed that this occupation is designed to be permanent.

Gen. Baldy SMITH accompanied Gen. CANBY on his recent trip to the vicinity of Mobile. He has not yet been assigned to any command.

Large bodies of troops are leaving here for the vicinity of Mobile. There are also indications of movements in other directions. The steamships Guiding Star and George Cromwell have been taken by the military for the transportation of troops to Mobile.

The steamship Morning Star arrived to-day.

Cotton has declined 2c.; low middling, 70c.@72c. Sugar and molasses active. Orders have been received to forward provisions to the North, and 1,000 bbls. Lard are now awaiting shipment. New-York tonnage is scarce. Cotton freights to New-York, ¾c. Bankers' sight checks on New-York at par.

Arrived, brig Edward H. Kennedy, from Boston.

West Tennessee Thrown Open to Trade—Arrival of Paroled Prisoners.

CAIRO, Monday, March 13.

Gen. WASHBURNE has thrown the entire District of West Tennessee open to trade. Citizens will be allowed to come freely to Memphis with the products of the country, and take out a limited amount of family supplies. This will continue however, only so long as the people manifest a loyal and friendly feeling toward the Government of the United States, and do not abuse the privileges granted.

Four hundred and fifty paroled prisoners from New-Orleans, belonging to Western regiments, arrived to-day, and will move North as soon as transportation can be furnished.

The Brig Castilian Ashore.

HOLMES' HOLE, Monday, March 16.

The brig Castilian, of Portland, from Cardenas for Boston, with a cargo of molasses, dragged ashore, yesterday, on the East Chop. She has received no damage, and will probably be got off to-day.

Escaped from Jail.

PORTLAND, Me., Monday March 13.

HENRY E. CLARKE and ALF. TEELS, confined for running away with the schooner Blue Bell, sawed off some bars and escaped from jail yesterday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13, 1865—
9:45 P. M.

To Maj.-Gen. John A. Dix:

The following dispatches have been received by this Department:

E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

CITY POINT, Va., March 13, 1865.

To Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The following items are taken from to-day's Richmond papers:

"We have some good news this morning—news of a victory in South Carolina. It is announced in the following official dispatch from Gen. LEE. Though the dispatch is rather scant in its particulars, enough is given to show that KILPATRICK was badly worsted.

HEADQUARTERS, &c., March 10, 1865.

To Hon. John C. Breckinridge, Secretary of War:

Gen. HAMPTON attacked Gen. KILPATRICK at daylight this morning, and drove him from his camp, taking his guns, wagons, many horses, several hundred prisoners, and relieving a great number of our own men who had been captured. The guns and wagons could not be brought off for want of horses. Many of the enemy were killed and wounded. Our loss is not heavy. Lieut.-Col. J. S. KING was killed. Brig.-Gen. HUME, Cols. KAGAN and MORRISON, and Majors DAVIS and FERGUSON, and others, were wounded.

R. E. LEE, General.

It will be observed that the locality of the fight is not named in the dispatch. This is for prudential reasons. SHERMAN has no communication with the North, and it would be imprudent to publish where he was, as it would be giving news to GRANT of his progress.

Matters are beginning to look decidedly better for us in the South. In the last three days we have had news of two victories—one in North Carolina and one in South Carolina.

FROM THE VALLEY.

We alluded in our last issue to a movement that was being made for the purpose of recapturing our prisoners, who were taken from EARLY in the recent fight near Waynesboro, and who were being conducted, under guard, to Winchester. The following official dispatch tells of it:

HEADQUARTERS, March 9, 1865.

Hon. J. C. Breckinridge, Secretary of War:

Gen. ROSSER reports that on the 6th, with a few of his men, he attacked the enemy near Harrisonburgh, who were guarding the prisoners taken at Waynesboro, and captured a few prisoners. On the morning of the 7th he again attacked them near Reid's Hill. Having detained them for a day and a night at the river, he caused them to retire in haste, abandoning the only piece of artillery they had, and their ambulances. He annoyed them a good deal, and enabled a good many of our men to escape.

R. E. LEE, General.

The Northern papers claim to have captured about a thousand prisoners in the fight with EARLY, and report that most of their number had reached Winchester.

CHARLOTTE, Wednesday, March 8.

The Southern Express Company's messenger from Augusta, Ga., brings advices to the 3d inst. No news of interest had transpired west of the Savannah River. The Georgia Senate had passed a resolution declaring that it does not concur in the recommendation of Gov. BROWN for a convention, by a vote of 20 yeas, against 8 nays. Several extensive fires had occurred in Augusta, supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Four hundred Yankee prisoners will leave Richmond this morning, on their return home, by the flag-of-truce boat. Among them are thirty-three officers, including Gens. KELLEY and CROOK, recently captured.

U. S. GRANT, Lieut.-General.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 13.

EARLY PAYMENT OF INTEREST.

The Secretary of the Treasury is considering the question of anticipating the interest on the five-twenties due on the 1st May. It is very probable that he will fix upon the 1st of April. There is disposition manifested to allow the interest to be anticipated at once. This latter idea is not looked upon favorably by the Secretary.

NATIONALIZING NEW-YORK BANKS.

Mr. KITCHEN, President of the Park Bank, is here, for the purpose of effecting arrangements to convert that institution into a National Bank. The President of the Shoe and Leather Bank, and the Tradesmen's Bank, have just left here, having been engaged in the same business. The other New-York Banks are taking steps in the same direction. All the State Banks will take the same course within six months.

ASKING POSTPONEMENT OF THE DRAFT.

There are several delegations here from different localities to urge a postponement of the draft. Neither the President nor the Secretary of War have thus far shown any disposition to interfere with the draft where it has been ordered, and it is not at all likely that they will. Gen. GRANT says that now is the time to strengthen the army.

HEAD OF THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.

It is understood that a military man will be designated as the head of the Freedmen's Bureau. There is a strong pressure, however, to put a civilian there. The Secretary of War is said to favor the former rather than the latter.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 13.

THE SINGLETON TOBACCO.

It is known here that Mr. SINGLETON, of Illinois, recently made a contract with a Government agent to sell a certain quantity of tobacco. But it is not so clear that the article recently destroyed at Fredericksburgh was part of his venture. It is a mistake in the rebel papers to say the tobacco was to be exchanged for bacon, for the latter is included in the law contraband of war, as applied to exchanges for products of rebel States. Fredericksburgh was not one of the designated markets or places of purchase, and, therefore, to send the tobacco thence into our lines, would have been a violation of the blockade. Had it been broken foreign ships would have doubtless claimed the privilege to trade at the same port. The Potomac flotilla settled the question by destroying the tobacco. The Executive order based upon the law of Congress, designates New-Orleans, Memphis, Nashville, Pensacola, Port Royal, Beaufort, N. C., Norfolk, and Fernandina, as places of purchase of products of the insurrectionary States. All persons except such as may be in the civil, military or naval service, having in their possession any products of States declared in insurrection, which the treasury agents are authorized to purchase, and all persons owning or controlling such products therein are authorized to convey the products to either of the designated purchasing places. Persons having sold and delivered to a purchasing agent the products of an insurrectionary State in accordance with the regulations, are permitted by the military authority commanding at the place of sale to purchase from any authorized dealer at such place or at any other place in a loyal State, merchandise and other articles not contraband of war nor prohibited by order of the War Department, for coin, bullion, or foreign exchange, to an amount not exceeding in value one-third of the aggregate value of the products sold by them. Had the tobacco been taken to Norfolk instead of Fredericksburgh, the sale could have been made in accordance with the Executive order under the law of Congress without loss to the parties interested.

OUR CONSUL AT MATAMORAS NOT DRIVEN OUT—WE HAVE NO CONSUL THERE.

The report current for a few days past that the United States Consul had been ordered to Matamoras is without foundation in fact. The Consul, Mr. L. PIERCE, resigned his office last year, and the subsequent closing of the Consulate was a matter of course, in view of the complications incident to the war in Mexico, and the blockade of the Rio Grande. The United States Government has, since that time, preferred to be represented at Matamoras by a Commercial Agent instead of a Consul. This class of officers have no political functions and do not require an exequatur or official recognition by the Government of the country in which they reside. Mr. E. D. ETCHINSON was appointed such commercial agent in September, 1864, and in December, 1864, was recalled for political reasons, and Mr. WOOD, who now holds the position, was appointed in his place. Dispatches have been received from Mr. WOOD within a few days, showing him to be at his post, and in the uninterrupted discharge of his functions.

NEW PAYMASTER-GENERAL.

The President to-day appointed Brig.-Gen. B. W. BRICE, of Ohio, Paymaster-General, U. S. A., to date from the 29th of November, vice ANDREWS, retired.

GUERRILLA RAID.

Last night MOSBY'S guerrillas came down to Munson's Hill and Bailey's Cross roads, about seven miles from Washington, and within three or four miles of our fortifications. They stopped at T. B. MUNSON'S house and took six of his horses, leaving but one. An unfortunate contraband was taken back to his master. This is the second night visit Mr. MUNSON has had from these depredators and thieves, but this time they omitted to capture his son, as they did on a former visit. The guerrillas numbered about thirty. They were fresh from a conflict with a squad of our cavalry, which they had defeated, leaving two dead and two wounded on the field, and taken the others, with the exception of the commanding officer, prisoners.

A PLEASURE TRIP TO THE SOUTH.

A party, including Senators Wade, Sherman, Chandler, Ramsey, Morrill, Foot, Grimes, Trumbull and Wilson, and Representatives Pike, Morrill and Baxter, of Vermont, and other Senators and Representatives, together with their families—in all about fifty persons—will leave here to-morrow to take passage for Fort Monroe for a pleasure trip to Charleston and Savannah. They will be gone about two weeks.

Police Station Lodgers.

BARNUM'S temperance drama is very good in its way, but it is all tame recital when compared with our daily morning reports from the police stations. At the Tombs, every morning at 6 o'clock, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, or at the Police Court on the East side, may be seen the real drama, and in it all the actors are up in their parts. But even here in the police courts the story does not fully appear; for among all the prisoners there are no station-house lodgers. This class—a large one, as will presently be shown—includes no felons that policemen drag to the bar of justice; the lodgers find shelter over night in the cells of the police stations, and are dismissed in the morning to go whither they will. Nobody knows them by day; they spring to the surface like mushrooms at night. They are masculine, feminine, of youth, of middle age, and of the sere and yellow leaf; but they are mainly in appearance males of middle age—young men who have grown prematurely old, females of twenty-two, whose haggard or bloated visages are not to be described. The aged and very young are seldom of their number; for their vagabond life is not conducive of age, and rum rarely does it work so rapidly as to drag children down to the necessity of seeking lodgings in the police stations. The males are in this time of draft seemingly excellent subjects for army duty in place of men of sedentary habits and comfortable incomes. But ask a Police Captain why he does not enlist them, and the almost invariable reply is, that they have offered to enter the field as substitutes and been rejected by the Surgeons. Theirs is a story of tippling, and they are Satan's own.

Station-house lodgers are not all, however, outcasts. In the Sixth Ward, where in Winter they average a score nightly, (in Summer they sleep under awnings and in the park,) the tale of gin and misery is photographed on every countenance; but in the western half of the First Ward, where the average of lodgers doubles that of the sixth, there is a mixed class of immigrants and seamen, outcasts and tipplers. In the up-town districts, where few lodgers apply, nearly every applicant is a victim of the wine-cup, and their number, throughout the city, as revealed by last year's Police report, was 56,929, distributed among the thirty station-houses thus:

1	845	11	1,713	21	1,504
2	1,398	12	563	22	1,237
3	811	13	1,426	23	165
4	5,119	14	2,273	26	10
5	3,367	15	2,049	27	6,864
6	2,446	16	2,428	28	1,468
7	1,596	17	2,553	29	1,902
8	2,606	18	1,386	30	334
9	3,219	19	998	31	45
10	4,843	20	1,716	32	55

This table tells the story of indulgence in intoxicating beverages completely; but the list of arrests for intoxication does not. The latter list shows only 16,655 prisoners throughout the city during the year, while the total of lodgers is about tripple that of the arrests for drunkenness, and exceeds the total arrests for offences of all kinds, as may be seen by the following: Total arrests in 1864 for intoxication, 16,655; total arrests for intoxication and disorderly conduct, 6,802; for disorderly conduct, 9,368; for assault and battery, 6,591; total arrests for offences of all kinds, 54,751. Verily the policemen read us the most vivid temperance lecture, and BARNUM ought to incorporate in his moral drama a scene from one of the station-houses

VICE-PRESIDENT JOHNSON.—It should stand to Gov. JOHNSON'S credit that before he left Nashville, he telegraphed to Washington that he was not fit to make the trip, and that he would rather remain at home to assist in the regeneration and restoration of Tennessee, than to be Vice-President of the United States. But after a council held among his friends here, it was deemed right that he should be present to participate in the august ceremonies of Mr. LINCOLN'S inauguration for a second term. In obedience to their earnest request, he came, and when he reached Washington was so enfeebled as to be compelled to take to his bed at once. Gov. JOHNSON appeared in the Senate yesterday morning, in company with his friend, Hon. PRESTON KING, of New-York, who is staying with him at the residence of our hospitable fellow-citizen, FRANCIS P. BLAIR, Sr. His health is entirely restored. He was as cheerful as any man could be after having recovered from so severe an indisposition. We have no doubt he will fully justify the warmest anticipations of his countrymen. During his stay in the Vice-President's room a large number of the Senators called to pay their respects, and we observed with much satisfaction that they were pleased to see him well.—Washington Chronicle.

Monday, March 13—P. M.

The following are the Weekly Averages of the old Associated Banks of this city, (exclusive of the National Banks of Commerce and Broadway,) for the week ending March 11, as compared with the previous return of March 4:

Decrease in Loans	$691.603
Increase in Specie	867.057
Decrease in Net Deposits	2 689 360

	March 12, 1864.	March 11, 1865.	March 4, 1865.
Capital	$69,722,508	$58,186,172	$58 186,172
Loans	187,757,746	165,995,209	165,393,606
Specie	20,750,405	19,889,371	19,022,314
Deposits	168,044,977	137,225,000	139,914,360
In Sub-Trea'ry	33,848,393	30,421,336	28,770,114

The National Bank of Commerce and National Broadway Bank, of New-York, report as follows:

	March 11.	March 4.
Loans	$22,125,681	$21,176 059
Specie	848,467	807 869

The old Banks lose over two and a half millions on the present statement in their Deposit line. They gain nearly a million in Gold, and the Sub-Treasury Office about as much more. The two National Banks in the Clearing-house gain nearly two millions in Deposits, and add about two millions to their Loans. The course of business in the way of Deposits and Country Bank balances, at present, is from the State to the National organizations. The ability to lend Money of course follows. The Nationals not in the Clearing-house, and reporting only to Washington once a month, carry a very large and profitable line of Deposits. The exact amount could be reported weekly, as well as monthly, if these Banks were all in a common Clearing-house with the old establishments. Such an arrangement would add to the interest of the Weekly Bank Statement, which, in its present partial shape, is almost valueless for reference or comparison.

The market for Money opens this week with an easy supply to the Brokers, at call, at 6@7 ₰ cent., while Merchant paper is more closely examined, and only the best names go at 7@9 ₰ cent. The reason for this criticism is the fall in Merchandise and Produce, resulting from the decline in Gold. The Gold-Room is 2½@3 ₰ cent. lower than on Saturday, and the favorable military news to-day, effects the confidence of speculators, who might otherwise attempt to rally the market. The corrected and authentic intelligence from the affair at Kinston, North Carolina, last week, goes far to discredit all Richmond dispatches so industriously repeated by "underground telegraph" to the Secesh Gold gamblers in this city.

In the absence of later advices from abroad the Gold bearing Stocks were quiet to-day, and prices on a small business, a fraction lower than last week. Several steamers are now due from the other side with three or five days' later news in response to the captures of Charleston, Columbia and Wilmington.

The Railway speculation was somewhat tame in the forenoon, but improved at the Second Board, and prices generally were quite up to the advance of Saturday. This department of the market again manifests a disposition to move with less reference than a week or two ago, to the ups and downs of the Gold Room. Some of the prominent Stock speculators, who were long of Gold by way of supporting the views of the Share market, after the breaking up of the Peace Conference in February, and, indeed, up to last week are reported within the last few days to have sold out. Their present absence from the Gold Room is of course felt by the other speculators who are attempting to resist the decline.

At four o'clock the following quotations were made in comparison with Saturday afternoon. The Railway list was less firm than at the Second Board. Governments were better than in the forenoon.

Lard has been in less request at lower and declining prices; sales 1,200 tcs. and bbls. for immediate and forward delivery, at 18¾c.@22½c., the latter rate for small lots of choice, ₰ ℔. Beef continues quiet at $19@$22 50 for Extra Mess; $17@$20 for New Plain Mess; sales 380 bbls. Tierce Beef is inactive and somewhat nominal to-day. Beef Hams are in very moderate request; sales 200 bbls., in lots, at $25@$26 50 ₰ bbl. Butter continues quiet and depressed, at 25c.@37c. for poor to choice State, and 18c.@25c. for Western, ₰ ℔. Cheese is in moderate request at 15c.@25c. for poor to choice, the latter an extreme price for very fine factory, ₰ ℔.

RICE—Is in limited demand and irregular in price.

SALT—Is held above the views of the principal buyers, and is inactive.

SEEDS—Are quiet and somewhat nominal in price.

SPICES—Are in moderate demand at easier and irregular prices.

SUGARS—Are in rather more request to-day. Sales since our last comprise 570 hhds. Cuba, &c., at 14¾c.@17¼c., and 250 bxs. Havana, part at 16½c., ₰ ℔. Refined Sugars have been very dull to-day at 17¾c.@23¾c. ₰ ℔.

STEARINE—Sales 11,000 ℔s. at 21c. ₰ ℔.

TALLOW—Sales 75,000 ℔s., at 14c.@14½c. ₰ ℔. The fortnight's business in Tallow, Messrs. Knight & Sons review thus: "The market for this staple has been gradually declining for the past fortnight, and prices have been very unsettled. During the fore-part of the past week prime brands were sold at 15¼c., for export, and some small parcels were bought by manufacturers. There appears to be much reluctance on the part of home consumers, to buy more than they actually need for immediate use from day to day. The supply of Tallow is quite small, as has been the case for the past three months. The extreme low rate of exchange causes shippers to leave orders unfilled. As we approach the opening of canal navigation, there will probably be a better supply of Western lots available. The sales for the week past have been small. To-day the market is weak, and sales of strictly prime were made at 14¼c., which was the outside figures for any considerable lots. Tallow, Oil, and Soap stock generally, are scarce. Price of Tallow this day 1858, 13c.; 1859, 10¾c.; 1860, 10¾c.; 1861, 9½c.; 1862, 8¾c.; 1863, 13c.; 1864, 12¾c. ₰ ℔."

WHISKY—Sales have been made of 400 bbls., in lots, at $2 24@$2 25, closing at $2 25 ₰ gallon.

FREIGHTS—For Liverpool—The engagements included only 50 bbls. Pork at 9d.; 200 boxes Bacon at 3s. 9d.; 12 hhds. Tobacco at 12s. 6d.; 50 hhds. Tobacco at 22s. 6d.; also, by steamer, 1,000 boxes Bacon at 15s., and 600 pkgs. Butter at 20s. For London—260 tons Mahogany on private terms. For Bristol—120 tons Bacon and Tallow at 20s. For Antwerp—500 bags Coffee at 22s. 6d.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Official dispatches have been received from Gen. SHERIDAN, dated at Columbia, Va., March 10th. This place is on the north side of the James River, about fifty miles west of Richmond, and very nearly midway between that city and Lynchburgh. The destruction by SHERIDAN'S men has been wide-spread and important. While at Charlotteville they destroyed two large iron bridges, one over the Rivanna River, the other over Morse's Creek, and also the railroad for eight miles southwest, in the direction of Lynchburgh. On Monday, 6th inst., Gen. DEVINS was sent to the James River, at Scottsville, and worked along the river and canal to Dugurdsvle, 15 miles east of Lynchburgh, destroying as he marched all the bridges, culverts and locks of the canal, and the tracks of the railroads in the way. He intended to cross the James at Dugurdsville, doubtless to strike the Southside Railroad, but the rebels destroyed the bridges. In the meantime, another division moved down the direct railroad from Charlotteville toward Lynchburgh as far as Amherst, ruining the road as far as they went, burning and breaking down a great many large bridges. The sweep of these two divisions spread over a triangle of thirty or forty miles on a side, and within that space the destruction of railroads and other public property is complete. The James River Canal, which (says SHERIDAN) had been the great feeder of Richmond, was cut at Rockfish River, and at New-Canton, where the dam is across the James, the guard-lock was destroyed, and the river let in, carrying away the banks and washing out the bottom of the canal. Gen. SHERIDAN says that the weather has been very bad, but he has, nevertheless, done excellent work. He reports the capture of fourteen guns and a few prisoners, Commodore HOLLINS, of the rebel navy, was shot near Gordonsville while attempting to make his escape from our advance.

Gov. FENTON assures the people of this State that the impending draft has been suspended, indefinitely, if the people choose to make it so. There will be no draft in any district where recruits are procured with reasonable rapidity, and men already drafted will not be required to required to report, where similar alacrity in raising volunteers may prevail.

Dispatches from New-Orleans, of the 7th, mention that the Union expedition from Baton Rouge had occupied Clinton, La. The movement of troops toward Mobile was going on rapidly, and the New-York steamers Guiding Star and George Cromwell had been taken for transports.

Gen. B. W. BRICE, of Ohio, was yesterday appointed Paymaster-General of the United States Army, in place of Gen. ANDREWS, retired.

FROM EUROPE.

The Hansa brings us three days later news from the Old World. Lord LYONS, who has long suffered from ill health, has resigned the post of Minister from Great Britain to the United States, and Sir FREDERICK BRUCE, who has been Minister to China, is to be his successor. Blockade-running has become poor business, about twenty-five fine steamers in that trade being laid up at Nassau. Queen VICTORIA has emerged from her retirement, and held a grand court on the last day of February. LOUIS NAPOLEON'S Preface to the Life of Caesar is a novel and interesting feature by this arrival. The Pope has given his expurgators orders to examine this biography closely for contraband matter. The latest vote from Prussia to Austria about the Duchies demands the right to levy sailors in said Duchies; the cession to Prussia of land for the canal from the Baltic to the German Ocean; the control of post-offices and telegraphs, and a homogenous commingling of the armed forces of the two countries. The King of Italy has signed an amnesty for all the Turin rioters.

GENERAL NEWS.

The English mail packet Eder arrived yesterday from Tampico and Vera Cruz, with dates from the latter place to the 3d inst., and from the City of Mexico to the 28th ult. The most important items of news are the decrees of MAXIMILIAN, one granting religious liberty, and the other approving of the secularization of the Church property ordained by the Republican Government. The capture of Oaxaca is confirmed, and full particulars are published. JUAREZ, at last accounts, was still in Chihuahua, and continued exercising his power, in accordance with the advice of his Privy Council, in whose opinion the legal end of his Presidency would not end until November. NEGRETE was acting as Secretary of War, having succeeded in raising an army of about 7,000 men. The news of the submission of Gen. ECHEAGARAY and of the ex-governor of Colima, DON JULIA GARCIA, to the new order of things, has it appears been confirmed.

The National Intelligencer says: "When Congress met in legislative extra session at the commencement of the Thirty-seventh Congress, by law the additional mileage was paid to the members of both Houses, but Senators who come to the special sessions, such as the one which has just closed its labors, are not compensated, and the rule between the two Houses becomes inequitable. Mr. DAVIS submitted a resolution to pay mileage to those new Senators who came actually from their homes to the special sessions of 1863 and 1865, but the veto of a solitary Senator forbade action upon it until the next session."

The St. Louis Democrat states that a fleet of Western river steamers left New-Orleans on the evening of Sunday, Feb. 26, for Mobile. The list includes the R. B. Hamilton, White Cloud No. 2, R. J. Lockwood, S. H. Grossbeck, Brilliant, Tarascon, Reserve, N. W. Thomas, Joab Lawrence and Peerless. They all had on board river as well as coast pilots, and were supplied with water casks, heavy anchors, and other materials necessary for a short sea voyage. They were provisioned for thirty days. This is, of course, the fleet the arrival of which off Mobile has been announced through rebel sources.

We have some interesting items from Mexico by an arrival yesterday. Among the prisoners taken at Oaxaca were several deserters from the French army. It is said that, in consequence of the fall of Oaxaca, the Juarist Generals, ECHUAGARY and JULES GARCIA, have both given in their submission to the Empire. A treaty with Guatemala is published at Vera Cruz. A Special Inspector of Finances has come from France to arrange accounts with Mexico. The French steam war-frigate Rhin, and several other French vessels, have been lost in a storm off Mazatlan.

MAXIMILIAN, on the 26th ult., published a decree for the protection of the Roman Catholic religion as a State institution; other religions are freely tolerated if they do not contravene morality, civilization and good habits. The establishment of a new religion will, however, require the authorization of the Government. The Council of State shall be informed of any abuses committed by the local authorities against the exercise of other religions, and against the liberty which the laws guarantee to their ministers.

A single day's issue of the Memphis Bulletin contains the following specimen of Southern barbarism: Two white men hung; two negroes hung; one Union man murdered; two negroes whipped almost to death; a mulatto man whipped to death, and his master's house robbed; an unknown number of men carried off for conscripts; more negroes whipped; hundreds of bales of cotton burned, and robberies too numerous to mention.

A number of farm houses in Cape May County, N. J., have recently been robbed by a gang of marauders, supposed to be deserters. On Saturday night, the people turned out and pursued the robbers, when a fight ensued. Two of the robbers were killed, and their bodies were found clad in Federal uniform. Their names are unknown. This gang of robbers have been living in caves in the neighborhood.

A man pretending to be a sailor appeared at the Union Volunteer Refreshment Saloon in Philadelphia, on Saturday last, and told a pitiful story about the wreck of the United States sloop-of-war Ticonderoga, off Cape Fear. He alleged that he was the only survivor, but there were such serious discrepancies in his story that no one gave him the slightest credence.

Our Havana correspondence gives the detail of some bold attempts in the harbor of that city to cut out or destroy the American steamer Shooting Star. A boat-load of the would-be pirates were captured but afterward released. The pirate Capt. MAFFITT had been a lion in Havana for some time, but sailed in the Owl, a few days ago, for Halifax, it was said.

The story that the French authorities at Matamoras had ejected the United States Consul at that place is effectually exploded by the official statement that we had no Consul there. Mr. WOOD is a commercial agent only, having no diplomatic status, and, besides, even he has not been sent off, but is now regularly attending to the business of his agency.

Gen. WASHBURNE has thrown open to ordinary trade the whole of West Tennessee. Merchandise may be freely taken to Memphis, and the country people may bring in their produce for exchange.

HENRY E. CLARKE and ALF. TEELS, confined for running away with the schooner Blue Bell, sawed off some bars and escaped from jail at Portland, Me., on Sunday.

The Sea Gull, with a cargo of oysters, full of water, boat gone and no persons on board, came ashore on the night of the 11th inst., at Brigantine Beach, near Atlantic City, N. J.

The brig Castilian, of Portland, from Cardenas for Boston, with a cargo of molasses, dragged ashore on Sunday on the East Chop. She received no damage.

The amount appropriated for the purchase of cavalry and artillery horses, is twenty-one millions of dollars; and for the purchase of gunpowder and lead, ten millions and a half of dollars.

The Secretary of the Treasury is said to favor the payment of the interest due on five-twenties on the 1st of May, a month in advance of that date.

We learn from Vera Cruz that on the 28th ult. a conducta of $800,000 was on its way from Mexico to that city. Since that date nothing has been heard of it.

A Democratic Mayor was yesterday elected in Biddeford, Me., by 175 majority. Belfast chose a Republican Mayor without opposition.

The subscriptions to the new loan, yesterday, reached the handsome sum of $5,246,700. Not much evidence of exhaustion that.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Board of Aldermen met at 2 P. M. yesterday. The ordinances appropriating $500,000 for the relief of families of volunteers, creating the office of Superintendent of the City Telegraphs, and Sergeant-at-Arms to the Mayor, were all laid over. The resolution authorizing the City Inspector to contract for the removal of night soil, the city receiving $4,000 per annum from the contractors, was concurred in. A report of the Committee on Ferries was adopted, directing the Comptroller to sell at public auction the right to run a ferry from the foot of Spring-street to Hoboken, was adopted, and the Board adjourned to to-morrow. The Board of Councilmen also met, but transacted no business of importance.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of the Tenth Ward was held last evening, at Essex Market Police Court, to take measures to fill the quota of that ward. Ex-Congressman TAYLOR presided, and made a short address. Supervisor PURDY made an able, patriotic speech. Resolutions were adopted, thanking the County Volunteer Committee, pledging the citizens of the ward to use their best endeavors to fill their quota, and appointing a committee to consult with citizens of the Fifth Congressional District, to invite their coöperation in devising a suitable plan for effectually carrying into execution the objects of the meeting.

The deaths in New-York during the past week were 478; 104 men, 86 women, 153 boys and 135 girls—an increase of 3 upon the mortality of the previous week, and of 29 as compared with the mortality of the corresponding week of 1864. Of the deceased 220 were children under five years of age. The mortality by the principal diseases was as follows: Consumption, 71; inflammation of the lungs, 47; infantile convulsions, 37; infantile marasmus, 25; small-pox, 25; scarlet fever, 15; typhoid fever, 9; typhus fever, 6 deaths from external causes, 23.

The German pastors and congregations of New-York held a meeting at Cooper Institute on Sunday evening for the purpose of promoting the better observance of the Sabbath. Besides a large number of German pastors, several of our prominent English ministers, the members of the New-York Sabbath Committee, and several other prominent laymen, were present. The exercises consisted of prayers, singing, and addresses by Drs. SCHAFF, SCHRAMM and ADAMS, and Messrs. WHITE, PRENTISS and MUHLENBERG. The meeting was a very large one.

A suit against the proprietors of the Sunday Mercury, in which Mr. JOHN H. MCCABE, plaintiff, claims damages to the extent of $25,000, for an alleged libelous publication in that journal on the 12th of October, 1862, came up yesterday in the Superior Court, Part 1, before Judge McCUNN and a jury. The publication was admitted by the defendants, and a motion was made by the counsel of the latter, when the plaintiff rested, for a dismissal of the complaint. The motion will be decided on Wednesday morning.

In the case of R. C. KENNEDY alias STANTON, who was recently tried as a spy and an incendiary, the court has rendered a verdict of guilty on each charge and specification. The sentence is death, and although the day is not yet definitely ascertained, it is quite probable that KENNEDY will be hung on Friday week.

St. Patrick's Day will be celebrated on Friday next by a parade of the Sixty-ninth and Ninety-ninth Regiments and thirty-three civic societies. A banquet will be given in the evening by the Knights of St. Patrick at the Metropolitan Hotel, and by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at Delmonico's in Fifth-avenue.

The Senate Investigating Committee resumed its session yesterday. A number of Health Wardens were examined as to their duties, capabilities, &c. No testimony of importance was elicited. To-day the investigation of the City Inspector's Department will be closed, and that of the Comptroller's taken up.

MICHAEL CASEY, a bounty-jumper, who was shot on Saturday morning last while committing a burglary in Mr. HENRY P. COCHRANE'S dwelling, at No. 56 West Forty-fourth-street, died at Bellevue Hospital yesterday.

The bounty-jumpers who were trapped in Hoboken by Col. BAKER were sent in chains to Fort Lafayette yesterday.

At the Live Stock markets yesterday, the supply of beef cattle was much larger than a week ago. Prices of prime animals remain about the same. Common and poor cattle are selling at a slight decline. Sales were about as follows: First quality cattle, 21c.@23c. ⅌ ℔.; common, 16c.@19c. ⅌ ℔., and poor, 12c.@15c. ⅌ ℔., net weight. Cows and veal calves are selling about the same; while sheep and live hogs are a little lower.

Produce and Merchandise were inactive and depressed, yesterday; prices of most articles favored purchasers most decidedly. Flour and Grain were generally cheaper and dull. Provisions were quite heavy. Pork declined 25c.@50c. ⅌ bbl.; Lard and Bacon, ⅛c., and Butter 1c. ⅌ ℔. Light freight engagements were effected at low rates.

The Gold speculation fell off 4@4½ ⅌ cent. yesterday in the Gold Room. The Money market was easy to the Stock Brokers, but less free on Mercantile paper, affected by the decline in Merchandise and Produce. The Railway Stocks and Government Stocks left off steady.

Sherman and Schofield—Very Significant Operations.

While Gen. SHERMAN is undoubtedly developing, and his army are assuredly executing, some startling movement somewhere in North Carolina—which is entirely hidden both from us and from the enemy—our troops in another part of the State are keeping the rebel forces very busy. We have had not only the fight near Kinston on the 8th, in which our advance line was momentarily repulsed, and which LEE made such extraordinary haste to report as a rebel success; but our troops had other encounters with the enemy on the two days following, which LEE has not been so quick in reporting, but of which we have accounts, official and unofficial, from our own side, and in which the rebels under BRAGG were defeated and very severely punished. Gen. SCHOFIELD himself has arrived at Kinston from Wilmington, and had command in the victory of the 10th.

We look on the arrival of Gen. SCHOFIELD in this quarter as very significant—we mean chiefly as regards SHERMAN'S army, SHERMAN'S condition, SHERMAN'S success, and SHERMAN'S purpose. Gen. SCHOFIELD, we are told, left Wilmington on Monday of last week. Previous to that time he had been pushing his forces up the Cape Fear River from Wilmington, for the purpose of communicating with Gen. SHERMAN, and of reinforcing him if necessary. Now, it is preposterous to suppose that SCHOFIELD did not communicate with SHERMAN, though it would seem he did not choose to furnish any news to the newsmongers at Newbern. SCHOFIELD had a very large army at Wilmington, and had SHERMAN needed his assistance or coöperation at any point south of or near to the Cape Fear River, he could assuredly have rendered it with perfect facility. But, instead of this, SCHOFIELD voyaged away up north as far as Newbern, and thence moved out toward Kinston, ordering, it would seem, a good part of his Wilmington army to follow after him.

Of course operations up as far as the Neuse are not fundamental, but merely coöperative. They indicate not only that SHERMAN is the master of JOHNSTON—not only that he can manage JOHNSTON'S forces with perfect ease—not only that he can take Fayetteville if he wants it; but the indication would seem to be, that instead of pausing at that locality, as it was generally supposed he would do, SHERMAN is going to boldly continue his great march up as far as Goldsboro or Raleigh, and at once advance to a locality where he not only seizes LEE'S last line of communication, but where he can coöperate with Lieut.-Gen. GRANT in the final movement upon LEE'S army.

In the face of such combinations, such operations, and such successes, the picayune victories (which mostly turn out to be defeats) that LEE is reporting to his army, appear in their own truly contemptible character.

JULIUS CÆSAR AND HIS IMPERIAL BIOGRAPHER.—The European mail brings us the full text of the French Emperor's Preface to his Life of Cæsar. The announcement of this portion of the work, it seems, was anticipated with considerable alarm at Rome, and the "Index" Revising Committee were warned to be ready to make the necessary expurgations before it should circulate within the States of the Church. We are not sufficiently familiar with the general views of this committee to know whether the dreaded Preface, now that it has made its appearance, will be considered heterodox or not. But to secular readers, we should say, it sounds most uncommonly like a string of the Imperial Author's famous New-Year's utterances, tied together with a few scraps of historical reference. Our readers will find it elsewhere and may judge for themselves.

Sheridan's Bulletin.

The most remarkable point about Gen. SHERIDAN'S victorious bulletin is its date line. It will be observed that it is dated on Friday last, at Columbia, Virginia. Now, as will be seen by the map, Columbia is in Fluvanna County, and is but fifty miles west of Richmond. Here, on the flank of the rebel capital, on the northern bank of the James River, was Gen. SHERIDAN, with his splendid cavalry force, four days ago. He doubtless sent his dispatch directly forward to Lieut.-Gen. GRANT from that point, and thus communicated with our army in front of Petersburgh.

SHERIDAN gives a concise and lucid statement of the advance of his army to that point from Charlottesville and across the mountains, and gives an account of the vast damage he has done to the rebel communications, supplies, and lines of supply. It is certainly very great, and must tell fearfully upon LEE'S army, in its present predicament. He also communicates the comforting assurance that his men and animals have found an abundance of supplies for their use.

Where SHERIDAN pushed to from Columbia, we are not as yet informed. He will probably sweep around and join Gen. GRANT, as that is his nearest point; and on the way he may possibly have stirred up JEFF. DAVIS in Richmond, and terrified LEE'S army by his apparition on their flank. News will be looked for from this quarter more eagerly even than from SHERMAN.

The Retirement of Lord Loyns—The New British Minister.

When Lord LYONS left Washington a few months ago, it was announced in these columns, on sufficient authority, that his retirement would be permanent. He himself, made no concealment of the fact; and his retention of the nominal position of Minister to the United States during the intervening period, was due only to his desire to give his Government time to find a suitable successor. This end has, we believe, been secured, and Lord LYONS has been relieved.

It was stated a few weeks ago by Mr. LAYARD, in the British House of Commons, that Lord LYONS' health had broken down under the great pressure of his public duties. And as an illustration of what these duties included, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs alluded to the fact, that the late Minister's dispatches from Washington, for one year, filled sixty folio volumes, and that the registered entries of the dispatches in the Foreign Office, for the last three years, numbered nearly fourteen thousand, some of which contained as many as two hundred inclosures.

It is a remarkable tribute to the evenness of temper, the tact and discretion of Lord LYONS that, in the performance of these exhausting and often painful duties, there was no occasion during the long period of his incumbency, when either his own Government or the Government to which he was accredited had to express dissatisfaction with the mode in which the intercourse between the two countries was conducted. And probably not the least essential service he has rendered to both is the retiring act of counsel which he was enabled to perform in the nomination of a successor.

Sir FREDRICK BRUCE, who succeeds to the British mission at Washington, is doubtless personally known to not a few of our older statesmen, from his connection with the Special Mission of Lord ASHBURTON, twenty odd years ago. He must be known to many more among us from his family relationship, as the brother of the late Lord ELGIN, Governor-General of the Canadas, and the late Gen. BRUCE, Governor of the PRINCE OF WALES. Alike as to his official training, his experience in various missions both here and in different States of South America, his coöperation with our representatives in the East, as British Minister to China, and the liberal sympathies of his family, Sir FREDERICK BRUCE may be expected to bring to his mission such requisites of character and such antecedents, as will make that mission acceptable to the two Governments. In personal amiability, the new Minister, we believe, is not excelled even by Lord LYONS. And he comes here with the assurance of Lord RUSSELL—emphasized as that assurance is in the London Times—that he will receive from the President of the United States and from the Secretary of State the same official courtesy extended to, and freely acknowledged by, his predecessor.

It is noteworthy, in connection with this appointment, that the London Times regards it as a happy coincidence that it should have been made at the commencement of President LINCOLN'S second term. That journal concludes—and justly so—that no more practical or decided answer could have been given to the rebel agents that have represented the British Government as doubtful of the propriety of recognizing Mr. LINCOLN as the President elect of the whole United States. The time, however, when these devices for propping up the Confederate cause could be of even temporary avail, has passed away for good. And Sir FREDERICK BRUCE will enter upon his mission with the fullest opportunity for promoting a good understanding between the two countries, and making for himself an honorable and enduring fame.

MAXIMILIAN ON TOLERATION.—The decree of MAXIMILIAN, of Mexico, in favor of full religious toleration, which we publish in another column, lacks but one element to make its worth apparent to us all—his power to enforce it. The Church is against him on principle, and the Pope has pronounced against this measure in advance. The Republicans regard his presence and his decrees as mere temporary expedients for the aggrandizement of French influence. And the best of his Imperial edicts are thus in a measure divested of any essential value.

The Pulpit and Sanitary Reform.

We rejoice that the Christian ministry of this city are at last lifting up their voice also for sanitary reform. It is high time. The long silence of our pulpit on this subject has been amazing. It almost passes comprehension that those whose business it is to admonish the people of Christian duty, should not long ago have spoken in tones of thunder against the wholesale murder that has for years been going on in this city by the poisoning of Heaven's atmosphere.

Science has demonstrated with the clearness of noonday that thousands of human beings, the greater part of them innocent, helpless children, are every year deprived of life in this city by effluvia that might be prevented. Why has it not been prevented? How is it that Christian New-York should quietly endure to a ten times greater amount of infanticide than that of Pekin, which is counted as one of the horrors of paganism? It is easy to say that it is an evil which comes through bad laws and dishonest officials. But that is no answer. Why have not better laws been made, better men been put in trust? There can be but one true reply. It is because the right public spirit has not been awakened and exercised. Against such a spirit all private machinations to keep up present abuses would be utterly powerless. It would rule the ballot-box here in the city so as to secure public officers who would do their duty. It would resistlessly impel the Legislature at Albany to supply every fit safeguard, every needed facility. But public spirit, the wide world over, is produced more by moral power, than by any cold calculation of material interest. This effect has not been wrought in this city, simply because the moral power which exists here has not been properly aroused. The Christianity of the community is responsible for this failure, precisely to the same extent that it has that moral power.

We suppose that the chief reason why Christian ministers have forborne to press home upon their hearers the duty of laboring to correct this monstrous evil, has been their natural reluctance to touch any subject connected with party politics. They have assumed, it would seem, that any reflections upon the mal-administration of our city affairs would be accounted an attack upon the party in power. There is no good ground for any such apprehension. No decent man of any party goes for filth and disease, or can be offended by being urged to do his duty as a citizen against them. The official delinquency does not attach to any party in particular. It has been seen in men of every political hue, and is an argument no more against one party than another. We tell ministers of the Gospel that if they have feared to cry aloud against this reeking disgrace and deadly outrage because of supposed invidious bearings in a party direction, they have egregiously misunderstood the character of the people which make up the parties. So long as the facts themselves are indisputable, there need be no fear that any Christian animadversions upon them will excite party displeasure.

It cannot be pretended that this duty of sanitary reform is something beyond the cognizance of the pulpit. A minister who should say that would deny that it is any longer a law of Christianity that thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Most assuredly it is not loving thy neighbor to poison his children, or to remain inactive when others were doing it. We have yet to learn that that command does not apply to men in all their relations, private and public. If it does so apply, the men who preach Scripture are in duty bound to enforce the application. If their hearers, by want of thought or want of feeling, are remiss in the observance of that Christian law in their civil relations, Christian admonition is as needful as in the case of any other remissness. Nay, more so, for the consequences are wider and more serious. The failure of the public spirit in this city that would secure a well-planned and well-administered sanitary system, tells with far heavier effect upon our poorer classes than would the withholding of every dollar of private charity now contributed to their relief.

It is one of the clerical complaints of the day that the pulpit has not the power that legitimately belongs to it. This has been mainly the fault of the pulpit itself. With all its ability and fidelity in other directions, it has failed to bring Christianity to bear in its rightful force upon the great practical concerns of daily life. It has been strong in expounding Christian doctrines, but has been weak in applying Christian principles. Its great need, here at least, is a touch of that old prophetic fire which once fulmined over guilty cities. We hail an indication that the pulpit is awakening to a sense of its responsibility in respect to our great municipal evils. Give us the moral forces that the pulpit of this city can set in motion, and New-York would soon cease to be a dishonor to Christian civilization.

THE GRIEVANCES OF IRELAND.—It will be seen by the European news, received last night, that the British Premier has at last discovered what is the prime grievance of the people of Ireland, the cause of her industrial decline, and the source of her social misery. It is not an obnoxious State Church, the want of a local Parliament, the absenteeism of landlords, the uncertain tenure of tenants, the potato rot, nor the wholesale emigration from large pastoral districts of the country. It is simply the want of capital. This, Lord PALMERSTON thinks, the Government of the United Kingdom cannot undertake to supply; but he would have been willing that a Parliamentary Committee should sit for another year to endeavor to discover where the capital necessary to redeem Ireland could be found. And that is the latest phase of the Irish question in the British Parliament.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The performance of "Don Giovanni" last evening attracted the customary attendance. There was not even standing room. The performance in all respects was admirable.

On Wednesday next "Fra Diavolo" will be given for the last time, and on Thursday "Norma." To-night in Brooklyn, "La Forza del Destino" will be played for the first and only time.

The regular performances at both establishments terminate with the present week. There will, however, be three supplemental performances for the purpose of introducing Mlle. STELLA BONHEUR, Signor BERNARDI, and a lady whose name has not yet been made public.

WALLACK'S—MRS. JOHN SEFTON'S BENEFIT.—To-night, (Tuesday,) this excellent actress appeals to her friends and the public, and has selected one of the most attractive programmes of the season, viz: TOM TAYLOR'S excellent comedy of the "Unequal Match," (never acted here,) and the capital farce of "Turning the Tables."

An Important Confiscation Case.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 13.

The Supreme Court of the United States, previous to its adjournment, indorsed a decision in the case of the United States, appellants, against Seventy-two Bales of Cotton—ELIZABETH ALEXANDER, claimant, on appeal from the United States District Court for the Southern District of Illinois, which had awarded restitution of the said cotton.

As it involved many interesting international and municipal questions in the law of prizes, perhaps no case has been decided in this country of more importance, in respect to the principles and number of interests affected by it.

In the Spring of 1864, Gen. BANKS' expedition went into the Red River country, the result of which is well known. According to the order of Gen. HALLECK, appointing Gen. BANKS to the command of the Department of the Gulf, one object was to release the cotton and sugar in that part of Louisiana, so that they might find a market. The naval authorities, acting without orders from Gen. BANKS, seized vast amounts of cotton on land, and carried it to Cairo, Ill., where they had it labeled as "prize of war." For the most part, it was owned by private citizens of Louisiana, in no wise connected with the rebel Government. It was seized during the period our army was in possession of the Red River country.

The argument on behalf of the Attorney-General, of the Government, and of CHARLES EAMES, of the City of Washington, for the captors, was based upon six points, in substance as follows:

1. If, at the time the cotton was captured, the place was the enemy's country, then the commercial property of the inhabitants, without regard to personal loyalty or disloyalty, was, if found on the high seas, liable to capture and condemnation as prize of war.

2. But, in the case assumed of the "enemy character" of the country through which Red River flows, then such commercial property is, à fortiori, lawful prize, if captured afloat on Red River by the navy.

3. But if, wholly contrary to our view, Red River was, in the sense of prize law at the time of the capture, merely an internal navigable river of the United States, then the right of capture of the enemy's commercial property found afloat on our internal navigable rivers, was clear and unquestionable, and that property, so captured, is lawful prize of war.

4. If, at the time of capture, this cotton was the enemy's commercial property, and if captured in the enemy's country by naval forces engaged in belligerent operations, then the capture, though made on land, was lawful, and the property was lawful prize of war.

5. At the time of this capture the whole region of Louisiana was made the enemy's country, and the property was the enemy's commercial property, and the capture was lawfully made, and the property is condemnable as "prize of war."

6. The "enemy character" of the country is the controlling fact in this cause, and this fact is supported by the action of the Government; hence the conclusion that the decree of the court below should be reversed and the property condemned as "prize of war."

The oral argument of the Government was conducted by J. H. ASHTON, Esq., Assistant Attorney-General, and by Mr. EAMES for the captors.

The following points were made by Maj. R. M. CORWINE, of Cincinnati, of counsel for the claimant:

1. The navy cannot capture and hold as "prize of war" enemy-property situate on land, such property never having been on the waters navigated by the vessels of the navy, and never having been afloat, but which was found and captured on the plantation where it was raised, a mile or more from the river.

2. There is no such thing as "prize of war" on the inland waters of the United States, where seafaring vessels of war never go, of property which has no connection, directly or indirectly, with captures made on the high seas or elsewhere.

3. Gunboats coöperating with and constituting part of the land forces, directing their efforts against large and the same bodies of insurgents in our territory—the whole going to make up the army of the United States—in its Red River expedition, do not possess any more rights and powers, and their officers and crews are not entitled to any more privileges or rewards, as to the property seized on the land or on the waters, than the officers and privates comprising the land forces, as distinguished from the officers and crews of the said gunboats.

4. The property of loyal citizens, situated and being in sections of country occupied and held by our troops, which citizens at the time acknowledged and obeyed the Constitution of the United States, and the laws of the State of Louisiana, passed in pursuance thereof, and who were then exercising, as such citizens, constitutional civil rights, is not lawful prize of war, which might be rightfully seized by the naval forces aforesaid, and subjected to the laws of prize as applied to seizures, made on the high seas, according to the laws of nations, applicable to such cases.

5. There can be no such thing, lawfully, as "prize of war" in property taken from loyal citizens in territory occupied and held by the civil and military authorities of the United States at the time such property is captured.

6. Before the passage of the Act of Congress, Aug. 6, 1861, (Special Session, page 319,) the District Court of the United States had no jurisdiction in cases of "prize of war" of property captured on land, on the lakes, or on the inland waters of the United States, unless it was expressly derived from the law of nations; and if there was such jurisdiction, then, after the passage of that act, it was expressly limited thereby to the class of cases therein enumerated.

7. Any act of capture, or other act done by the naval forces, in contravention and in violation of the general plan of Maj.-Gen. BANKS, for the conduct of that Red River campaign, or which were not sanctioned or approved by him, as the sole commander of that expedition, was null and void, and conferred no legal rights on the captors.

8. It is no lawful capture for the naval forces to take forcible possession of cotton which had previously been wrested from the grasp of the enemy by the sole agency of the land forces; and which was at that time within our lines and within the influence and protection of such land forces, which then held exclusive possession of the country.

WM. M. SPRINGER, Esq., of Springfield, Illinois, also counsel for the claimant, submitted the following points:

1. Private property on land, is not liable to capture and condemnation as prize of war.

2. To constitute a lawful prize the property must be engaged in an illegal traffic, and taken on the high seas, jure belli, out of the hands of the enemy.

3. That private property in an enemy's country, is now, as a general rule of war, exempt from seizure or confiscation, and that the facts in this case show that this cotton does not fall within any of the exceptions to this general rule.

4. The District Courts of the United States, sitting in Admiralty, have no prize jurisdiction in cases of seizure of property on land; but such courts may try the question of prize or no prize, and must award restitution, if the capture were unlawful.

5. The proof having shown that the captors marked, when they seized this cotton, some of it with the letters "C. T. A.," we contend that this act was a fraud upon the claimant and upon the court, and was, of itself, sufficient to deprive the captors of a prize interest, even if the capture had otherwise been lawful.

6. When the United States take possession in this war, of any rebel district, they acquire no new title, but merely indicate that which previously existed, and are to do only what is necessary for that purpose.

7. The amnesty oath of allegiance, taken by the claimant in this case, removes from her all legal disabilities growing out of the war, is a full pardon for all political offences, and secures a restoration of all rights of property, except as to slaves, and except in property cases, where the rights of third parties shall have intervened.

8. As a mere question of policy, if there were no other questions involved, this court should not recognize the right of land captures by naval forces.

The Supreme Court, though reversing the decree of the Court below, thought the property should have been turned over to the Treasury officers as captured or abandoned property, under the act of March 12, 1863.

This act provides that, two years after the war, loyal citizens may establish their claims for restitution before the Court of Claims

AMERICAN TOPICS.

THE RETIREMENT OF LORD LYONS.

From the London Times, Feb. 28.

The public will hear with great regret that Lord Lyons has been compelled by the state of his health to resign the post of British Minister at Washington, which he has filled for six years with so much ability and judgment. No one, indeed, who knows the nature of the work which he has had to discharge during the last four years of his office will be surprised at his being compelled to retire. The mere physical labor which has been entailed upon him would alone be enough to account for the necessity of his resignation. Mr. Layard gave an account the other night of the business which has been transacted during the last three or four years at the Washington Embassy, and, except upon such authority, the amount would be almost incredible. The correspondence of one year filled 60 large folio volumes. In less than three years there were 13,948 entries of single dispatches in the Foreign-office registers, and nearly all of these contained inclosures, one of them having no less than 203. The close and multitudinous relations of this country with America have, in fact, been entangled and twisted in inextricable confusion, and these voluminous letters and inclosures are probably but an inadequate representation of the innumerable knots which Lord Lyons has had to untie. Questions of blockade and of nationality, complaints from British subjects, demands by the British Government, the voluble dispatches of Mr. Seward, and his incessant demands and representations—all these combined have tasked the energies of the mission and the supervision of the Minister to a probably unprecedented extent. But the amount of the business thus transacted must, after all, have been the least part of its burden. The anxiety of the office must have been far more trying than its labor. Seldom has there been a more important post at a more critical time. The consequences which have depended for the last few years on the due conduct of our relations with the United States have been momentous in the extreme, and there has scarcely been any moment within that period at which those relations might not have been comprised by a failure in courtesy or discretion. Mr. Lincoln's Government, indeed, has, it must be confessed, displayed a creditable or a prudent self-control under the various excitements of the time; yet the temper of the American public has constantly been such that a slight indiscretion on our part might have made it impossible for the President and his Minister to be more moderate than the people whom they represent. It reflects the greatest credit on Lord Lyons, that during this critical and difficult period he has uniformly smoothed the roughness and adjusted the difficulties which arose, and that Mr. Layard could say the other night that "in no instance has he not received the entire approval of Her Majesty's Government."

The more satisfactorily, however, he has filled his difficult post, the greater our regret at his enforced retirement, particularly at a moment when clouds on all sides threaten a difficult if not a stormy course to the pilot of our interests in America. Lord Lyons has seen the ship of the American State drift from a safe harbor into the unknown waters of a dangerous and tempestuous sea. It is no wonder if he is overwearied by the strain of watching her perilous course, but he resigns a difficult and uncertain task to his successor. It is, indeed, extraordinary to reflect upon the changes which his comparatively short term of office has witnessed. A period is not always to be measured by the mere lapse of time, and a succession of events has been crowded into the six years of Lord Lyons' employment which would have been thought, not long ago, too many and too vast for the lifetime of one man. He was appointed in 1858, yet what an era has passed since then! Three short years have witnessed the violent disruption of the greatest Power in the New World, the growth of a war almost unexampled in its magnitude, and, whatever may be the ultimate result of the struggle, the utter subversion of all the most cherished institutions of a great and prosperous nation. When Lord Lyons went to Washington the United States stretched in peaceful and prosperous dominion from the Gulf to the St. Lawrence, and from the Pacific to the Atlantic, they were the favorite model of free and Republican institutions, they scarcely possessed an army, they had an absolutely insignificant debt, and the whole energy of their industrious and vigorous population was devoted to commerce, to agriculture, to learning and the arts. Lord Lyons leaves them in the convulsions of a political earthquake. One vast chasm yawns from East to West, dividing by blood and fire two hostile sections of a scarcely kindred race; republican institutions are rapidly becoming imperial in almost all but the name; personal freedom is a memory of the past; enormous armies, like swarms of locusts, devour the face of the country; a debt unparalleled for its growth and threatening aspect overshadows the resources of the nation, and the whole energy of the people is withdrawn from the life-giving exercise of peace to the exhausting fever of war. When Lord Lyons first went to his mission the country he was accredited to was the United States. It is difficult to say what it should be called now, impossible to foresee what it will be. Those six years, in fact, have seen the rise and the development of a tremendous revolution, and if we are sending out a new Minister it is to an entirely new state of things.

The successor of Lord Lyons in this momentous post will be Sir Frederick Bruce, who at present holds the office of Minister in China, but happens opportunely to be in England. There is no reason to doubt that in making this selection the Government have had ample regard to the qualifications necessary for the office. Sir F. Bruce has greatly distinguished himself by his conduct of our troublesome negotiations with the Court of Pekin; and though he will have very different persons to deal with in Washington, yet a man who has been energetic, acute and successful in one place will probably be energetic and acute, and will at least deserve to be successful in another. Perhaps, in the surging sea which American politics represent at the present time, an intimate acquaintance with the recent traditions of our Ministry at Washington, may be of less importance than it would have been otherwise. The movements are so rapid, the influences so uncertain, that the course pursued at one moment may have to be forgotten the next. But though Sir F. Bruce has not been recently employed in any post connected with his new office, he is not entirely inexperienced in American affairs. His first employment was when attached to the late Lord Ashburton's special mission to Washington in 1842, when the famous Ashburton Treaty was negotiated. Subsequently, for a year, he was Lieutenant-Governor of Newfoundland, and from 1847 to 1851 he was employed in various posts in South America. Four years after this he went with his brother, Lord Elgin, to China, and has since been entirely employed in that country.

By a fortunate coincidence he will arrive in America just when Mr. Lincoln will have entered upon his second term of office. It will, perhaps, have an opportune significance that a new Minister should thus be accredited to the United States at the commencement of this new period in their annals. A wild fancy had a little while ago possession of the American mind, that England and France contemplated a sort of underhand recognition of the Confederacy on the 4th of March by acknowledging Mr. Lincoln as President only of those States which had taken part in his election. The incredulous surprise with which this announcement of our intentions was received on this side of the water would have been sufficient to convince the public of both countries of their mistake. But the Americans are peculiarly hard to convince against their will, and it may be fortunate, therefore, a marked refutation will be given to their delusion. The arrival of a new Minister, accredited to the Government whose authority we still acknowledge, will be a more conspicuous evidence of the fallacy of these strange anticipations than the return of Lord Lyons. It may, perhaps, be made more evident that, instead of in any way slighting their Government, we are paying it the distinct attention of selecting a new Minister to represent us.

THE BLOCKADE.

IDLE BLOCKADE-RUNNERS AT NASSAU.

A dispatch from Nassau of Jan. 26, says:

"The following vessels—Flamingo, Falcon, Hansa, Banshee, Stag, Emily, Dream, Secret, Night Hawk, Wild Rover, Susan, Burns, Badger, Star, Rothesay Castle, Ellen Denny, Kenilworth, Marmion, Mars, Little Hattie, Mary & Ella; Col. Lamb, Watson, Alice and Gen. Clinch—are lying here idle, part of them having never made a run.

The Vulture and Evelyn have gone to Havana for repairs. It is reported that the Will-o'-the-Wisp has been captured off Galveston.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

THE EXTRINSIC POLICY.

The Times of Monday, Feb. 27, says:

"By this time the public will have been enabled to digest the intelligence communicated by Mr. Seward, of a proposition for terminating the American war by a combined attack of the belligerents on some foreign Power. In the speculation itself there was little novelty. We now learn on official authority, that this characteristic idea has been not only entertained, but deliberately discussed and considered by the representatives of the belligerent Governments in conference assembled. With the Confederate envoys it was the solution which they seemed chiefly to favor." They suggested that the question of union or separation should be left in suspense, that in the meantime there should be "a mutual direction of the efforts of the Government, as well as those of the insurgents, to some extrinsic policy or a scheme for a season," and that negotiations on the great point at issue should be resumed after this diversion had produced its palliative effects. It is stated that Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward did, in the course of the interview, recognize the prospect of foreign complications, and the probability that England rather than France would be the country involved. We must admit, too, that the "scheme" if it was thus recommended by the South had been conceived with considerable ingenuity in the interests of the seceders. By the time the "extrinsic policy" had been carried into execution and brought to an end, the Federals would have become accustomed to live without the Confederates, and to see in the Southern Republic only a kindred State and natural ally. We hope the public will not lose sight of the fact that the adoption of an 'extrinsic policy,' at the expense of innocent neutrals, has actually been entertained and debated by the chief authorities of the two American Governments. If the "scheme" was hatched by President Davis and his colleagues, it was at any rate taken into dispassionate consideration by President Lincoln and his Secretary of State, while Mr. Seward himself is at the pains to inform us that it was not objected to for an instant on its own merits or from any consideration which a turn in the events of the civil war might not immediately remove. This lesson we shall do well to remember. Mr. Seward has most considerately forewarned us; it will be our own fault if we are not found to be forearmed."

GENERAL NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In the House of Lords on Monday, Feb. 27, Lord Taunton presented petitions from the City of Melbourne and other places in the Colony of Victoria, praying for the immediate abolition of the system of transportation to Australia.

Lord Granville said the Government would give up the system as soon as practicable.

The adjourned debate on Mr. Hennessy's motion respecting the state of Ireland was resumed on the 27th, by Mr. Roebuck against the motion, and describing the whole thing as a whining for money for Ireland.

Several other members addressed the House, among them Lord Palmerston, who, in a long speech, expressed his opinion that the want of capital was at the root of Ireland's woes. He thought the opinion of the House was against the proposal of a grant of public money, but if the motion were made for the reappointment of the committee of last year, the Government would be ready to accede to it.

The House divided on the motion, and it was negatived by 107 to 31 votes.

Mr. Moore has won by a large majority. At the close of the poll the numbers were:

Mr. Moore	2,042
Mr. Gill	884
Majority	1,158

FRANCE.

PREFACE TO THE EMPEROR'S LIFE OF CÆSAR.

Few of the Paris journals comment on the preface to the Emperor's "History of Julius Cæsar," which will be published on the 1st of March. The Constitutionnel speaks of it in a style of painful and humiliating homage. The preface, which is published in the Moniteur, is as follows:

Historical truth ought not to be less sacred than religion. If the precepts of faith elevate our soul above the interests of this world, the lessons of history, in their turn, inspire us with the love of the beautiful and the just, with a hatred for everything which is an obstacle to the advancement of the welfare of mankind. Those lessons, to be profitable, require certain conditions. It is necessary that facts should be produced with rigorous exactitude, that political and social changes should be philosophically analyzed, that the piquant attraction of the details of the lives of public men should not distract attention from their political task or throw their providential mission into oblivion.

The historian too often gives us the various phases of history as spontaneous events without diving deeper into anterior facts for their real origin and natural deduction; in like manner as the artist who, in reproducing the accidents of nature, devotes himself simply to their picturesque effect without being able in his picture to give their scientific demonstration. The historian ought to be more than a painter; he ought, like the geologist, who explains the phenomena of the globe, to disclose the secret of the transformation of our social world.

But in writing history, what are the means to ascertain the truth? The only way is to follow the rules of logic. Let us take it for granted at once that great results are always due to a great cause, never to a small one; in other words, an incident insignificant in appearance never leads to great results without a preëxisting cause which has allowed that small incident to achieve a great result. A spark does not create a great conflagration unless it falls upon combustible materials accumulated beforehand. Montesquieu confirms this idea: 'It is not good fortune,' he says, 'which rules the world. * * * There are general causes, either moral or physical, which act in every monarchy, elevate it, uphold it, or ruin it. All incidents are subjected to these causes, and if the chance of a battle—that is to say, a special cause—has ruined the State, there existed a general cause which implied that that State was to perish in a single battle; in fact, the chief inducements absorb all other special incidents.'

If, during a period of nearly one thousand years, the Romans always issued forth triumphant from the most severe trials and from the greatest dangers, it is because there was a general cause which always rendered them superior to their enemies, and which did not suffer defeats and partial disasters to lead to a fall of their sway. If the Romans, after giving to the world the example of a people establishing themselves firmly and growing great by liberty, have seemed since Cæsar to throw themselves blindly into serfdom, it is because there existed a general reason which fatally prevented the republic from returning to the pure form of its former institutions; it is because the wants and the new interests of a society in labor required other means to be satisfied. In the same manner that logic proves to us in important events the reason why they are imperative, in like manner we must recognize both in the long duration of an institution the proof of its worth, and in the incontestible influence of a man upon his age the proof of his genius.

The task consists, then, in endeavoring to discover the vital element which constituted the strength of the institution, like the predominating idea which made the man act. Following this rule, we shall avoid the errors of those historians who collect facts transmitted by preceding ages without arranging them according to their philosophical importance; glorifying what deserves censure, and leaving in the dark that which calls for light. It is not a minute analysis of the Roman organization which will make us understand the duration of so great an empire, but a deep investigation into the spirit of its institutions; it is not, moreover, a detailed narrative of the lesser acts of a superior man which will reveal to us the secret of his ascendency, but a careful examination of the elevated motives of his conduct.

When extraordinary facts demonstrate an eminent genius, what can be more contrary to good sense than to attribute to him all the passions and sentiments of mediocrity? What more erroneous than not to recognize the preëminence of those privileged beings who appear from time to time in history as brilliant beacons, dissipating the darkness of their epoch and throwing light upon the future? To deny such preëminence would, moreover, be an insult to human nature, by believing it capable of submitting for a length of time and voluntarily to a domination not based upon real greatness or incontestable utility. Let us be logical, and we shall be just.

Too many historians find it more easy to lower men of genius than to raise themselves by a generous inspiration to their level by penetrating their past designs. Thus, as regards Cæsar, instead of showing us Rome, torn by civil wars, corrupted by wealth, treading its ancient institutions under foot, threatened by powerful nations—the Gauls, the Germans and the Parthians,—incapable of maintaining itself without a stronger central power, more stable and more just; instead, I say, of drawing that faithful picture, Cæsar is represented to us, from his very youth, meditating already upon supreme power. If he resists Sylla, if he disagrees with Cicero, if he enters into alliance with Pompey, it is all the result of that farsighted cunning which has divined everything to enslave everything; if he dashes into Gaul, it is to acquire wealth by pillage, or soldiers devoted to his cause; if he crosses the sea to carry his eagles into an unknown country, the conquest of which will strengthen that of the Gauls, it was but to seek for pearls supposed to exist in the seas of Great Britain. If, after having vanquished the formidable enemies of Italy beyond the Alps, he meditates upon an expedition against the Parthians to avenge the defeat of Crassus, it is, say certain historians, because activity suited his nature, and that he enjoyed better health when in the field; if he accepts with gratitude a laurel crown from the Senate and bears it proudly, it is to hide his bald head; if, finally, he is assassinated by the men whom he has overwhelmed with his bounty, it is because he wished to make himself King—as if he was not, for his cotemporaries as well as for posterity, much greater than any King. Since Suetonius and Plutarch, such are the miserable interpretations which have been given to the noblest acts. But by what sign are we to recognize the greatness of a man? In the sway of his ideas, when his principles and his system triumph despite his death or his defeat. Is it not, in fact, the prerogative of genius to outlive destruction, and to extend its empire over future generations? Cæsar disappeared, and his influence predominates still more than during his lifetime; Cicero, his adversary, is obliged to exclaim: "All the acts of Cæsar, his writings, his words, his promises, his thoughts, are more powerful after his death than if he were still alive." During centuries it has sufficed to tell the world that such was the will of Cæsar for the world to obey.

That which precedes sufficiently indicates the object I have proposed to myself in writing this history. That object is to prove that when Providence raises up such men as Cæsar, Charlemagne, and Napoleon, it is to trace out to nations the path they ought to follow, to stamp a new era with the seal of their genius, and to accomplish in a few years the work of many centuries. Happy the nations who comprehend and follow them! Woe to those who misunderstand and resist them! They act like the Jews; they crucify their Messiah. They are blind and guilty—blind, for they see not the impotence of their efforts to suspend the final triumph of good; guilty, for they only retard its progress by impeding its prompt and fertile application.

In fact, neither the assassination of Cæsar nor the imprisonment of St. Helena could destroy beyond revival two popular causes overthrown by a league disguising itself with the mask of liberty. Brutus, by killing Cæsar, plunged Rome into the horrors of civil war; he did not prevent the reign of Augustus, but he rendered possible those of Nero and Caligula. Nor has the ostracism of Napoleon, by conspiring Europe, prevented the resuscitation of the Empire, and yet how distant are we from that solution of great questions, from the appeased passions, from the legitimate satisfaction given to nations by the first Empire.

Thus, ever since 1815 has verified itself that the prophecy of the captive of St. Helena:

"What struggles, what bloodshed, what years will yet be required that the good I wished to do to mankind may be realized?"

NAPOLEON.

Palace of the Tuileries, March 20, 1862.

The Avenir National says: Correspondence we have received from Turin communicates to us the following news obtained direct from Rome:

"The Congregation of the Index has received orders from the Pope to examine scrupulously the Life of Cæsar, by Napoleon III., immediately it appears."

The Times' Paris correspondent says:

"The agitation created among French papermakers, in consequence of the reduction of the duty on rags exported has greatly subsided."

Wheat continues to rise in the French corn markets. The price of bakers' flour has improved in the Paris market. It is quoted at 47 francs.

French rentes closed on Monday at 67f. 65c.

PRUSSIA.

THE PRUSSIAN NOTE TO AUSTRIA.

The following are the demands made by Prussia in reference to the Duchies in the last note which has been dispatched to Viena:

1. The right to levy sailors in the Duchies for the Prussian navy.
2. The cession to Prussia of the requisite territory for the establishment of the canal to connect the German Ocean and the Baltic. At each mouth of this canal large fortified docks are to be erected, for the reception of Prussian men-of-war.
3. The postal and telegraphic departments of the Duchies to be under the direction of Prussia.
4. To connect, as closely as possible, the forces of the Duchies with those of Prussia, so far as the officering is concerned; the Holstein contingent is, however, not to quit the Federal army.

The first two conditions are made a sine qua non.

ITALY.

A telegram from Turin of Feb. 16, says: "The King has signed an amnesty for all acts connected with the recent riots in Turin. His Majesty appeared to-day in the Corso, and was enthusiastically received.

THE SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN QUESTION.

A dispatch from Vienna of Feb. 26, says: "It is stated that the Prussian note which arrived here yesterday, rejects the proposal of Austria provisionally to transfer the Government of the Duchies to the Duke of Augustenburg until the succession question. Prussia must make the ultimate form of government in the Duchies dependent on certain conditions, and must also receive sufficient compensation. In conclusion the note enumerates five points upon which it is essential for Austria and Prussia to agree before a final solution can be arrived at. These points would not be contrary to the interests of Austria, and would advance the general interests of Germany."

A telegram from Petersburg of Feb. 26, says: "Reassembly of delegates from the various associations of Schleswig and Holstein, met here to-day. A resolution was passed to the effect that the inhabitants of the Duchies should leave to the Duke of Augustenburg and to the Diet the conclusion of such treaties with Prussia as would be to the interest of the whole of Germany."

SPAIN.

Marshal Narvaez declared in the Congress that the country and the finances were both in an unsatisfactory condition when the present Ministry assumed office. He added that it was necessary they should unite their efforts for the service of their country.

The address to the Queen was then passed by 164 against 84 votes, and the Congress adjourned until March 2.

The London Times says: "The report that the Queen of Spain was about to sacrifice her private estate in aid of the National Treasury, must have struck many with surprise. It came upon us like a revival of the virtue of Roman matrons as manifested in the best days of the Republic. The royal palaces and their contents, Buen Retiro, Aranjuez, the Escurial, and ten more, the Museum of Art, the Alhambra, and some other property are to be entailed forever on the Crown, and when so much has been put aside to serve for the perpetual lustre of majesty, the rest of the patrimony, hereditary possessions, and other estates enjoyed by the Queen, are to be sold. Three-fourths of the proceeds are to be paid into the Treasury, and the remaining fourth to herself. Whatever may be thought of the generosity of Queen Isabella, it is impossible not to see the futility of this expedient as a stroke of finance. Spain has for many years been eating up her capital, and she has now begun to consume another store. But what will she do when this is exhausted? The Spanish Finance Ministers are, in fact, pursuing a suicidal course."

PORTUGAL.

A telegram from Lisbon, of Feb. 25, says: "The Duke of Soule has stated in the Cortes that he was endeavoring to reconstruct the Cabinet efficiently, and should he not be successful it was his intention to resign."

The Official Gazette publishes the drafts of new bills on the export of wine and the import of cereals.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

The Times City Article of Tuesday says: "The English funds experienced a further fall on Monday of ¼ ℔ cent., and are now more than 2⅜ ℔ cent. below the point at which they stood at the corresponding date of last year, when the bank rate was 6 ℔ cent. The causes of the increased heaviness have been various. The market opened with flatness, consequent on the doubts engendered as to the possible maintenance of peace in the world by any policy, however temperate and prudent, when it is found that the head of a great nation can, without apparent scruple, avow participation in a discussion as to whether the proper way of settling an internal struggle would not be to combine and fall upon some wholly neutral people. Subsequently an increase in the demand for money, coupled with a partial confirmation of the recent rumors of mercantile difficulties in China, aggravated the adverse tendency, and Consols closed at 88¾@89.

The discount applications at the Bank were rather numerous, and in the open market there was increased demand.

In the Stock Exchange there was fully an adequate supply of money, at 4 ℔ cent.

The Confederate loan declined 2 ℔ cent., to 54@56 on the Africa's news.

There were no gold operations at the Bank on Monday, and such supplies as can be obtained continue to be absorbed for transmission to Spain.

The steamer Shannon, from the West Indies, has brought £40,000.

Erie paid up shares are quoted ⅛ better. Pennsylvania Railroad, second mortgage, is 1 lower.

Railway Mismanagement.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Permit me, in the name of the traveling public, to express thanks to you for the independent stand you are taking with respect to railway traveling.

In every part of the old world, traveling is made an enjoyment by the care taken by the companies to provide for the safety and comfort of passengers. Throughout this country it is an unspeakable nuisance.

As to the accidents, only the grave ones ever reach the knowledge of the public. The minor ones are kept quiet or slurred over. And for every accident that actually takes place, there are perhaps a dozen narrow escapes, involving a carelessness almost as criminal as those that result fatally. The lines running North and South are particularly detestable, I suppose because of the comparative absence of competition. I trust you will not leave the subject until you have stirred it up most thoroughly.

Yours truly, L.

HEARING RESTORED BY ONE APPLICATION OF DR. VON EISENBERG'S ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON.

New-York, March 10.

I have been induced, by the great number of certificates continually published in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's skill, to apply to him for advice concerning my deafness of many years' standing. I placed myself under his care, and to my utmost delight he made me hear perfectly well by a single painless application of Dr. Von Eisenberg's "Æsthetico-Neuralgicon." I have great pleasure in being able to state that his skill in restoring hearing surpasses anything I ever saw or heard of. His attention to the patient is highly commendable.

SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC; OR THE GASTRIC JUICE OF THE STOMACH.

This remedy is composed of a compound preparation of a common weed growing along the seashore, and is a certain and infallible remedy for the cure of Dyspepsia.

It possesses all the properties of Hydr. of Potassium, Iodide of Iron, and Iodine, and nearly every substance of the gastric juice of the stomach. It turns food into chyme, the first process of digestion.

The Seaweed Tonic brings up the tone of the stomach, and gives at once an appetite.

The effect of the Seawood Tonic is felt soon after it is taken, as it supplies at once the principles of the deficient gastric juice, and the food is digested naturally.

It gives tone and strengthens the stomach, thus enabling it to secrete the proper quantity and quality of gastric juice, and Dyspepsia and all its diseases soon disappear.

A little taken before breakfast will create an appetite. After eating a hearty dinner, a wine-glassful of it will digest the food and prevent any unpleasant feeling of fullness. It is perfectly harmless, and very agreeable to the taste; it corrects the stomach in such a way that everything that is eaten seems to agree with the stomach, and by continuing its use persons become quite fleshy. In short, it being seldom that persons are troubled with Dyspepsia without some torpidity of the liver and constipation of the bowels, then one of Schenck's Mandrake Pills should be taken every night for a week or two, then one every other night. This will regulate the bowels so gradually that nature will do it without the aid of purgatives.

It is a well-known fact that none suffer like the Dyspeptic; for in addition to the Dyspepsia, there is often either headache, sour and sick stomach, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, chills and fever, gravel, disease of the kidneys, nervous weakness and tremors and general debility.

The Seaweed Tonic is a pleasant bitters, giving a person a good appetite and good digestion; it is put up in quart bottles.

It is pure, and contains no common corn or rye whisky or alcohol. The Seaweed is distilled similar to the process of Jamaica Spirits, and always agrees with the stomach.

Prepared only by J. H. SCHENCK, No. 15 North 6th-st., Philadelphia, and sold by druggists generally.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 62 Franklin-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitutions, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 61 Franklin-st., between Broadway and Elm-st., New-York.

AFFLICTED RESTORED—IGNORANCE EXPOSED—FALLACIES UNMASKED.—Highly important to both sexes, married or single, in health or disease. Dr LARMONT'S Paris, London and New-York Medical Adviser and Marriage Guide, 80th edition 400 pages, nearly 100 anatomical illustrations—upon debility, affections of the bladder and kidneys, sexual diseases, European hospital practice, the author's unequaled Paris and London treatment, &c. All should purchase this original work of the American News Company, No. 121 Nassau street, or the publisher, E. WARNER, No. 1 Vesey-st., for $1 00, or consult the doctor, No. 173 Broadway, up-stairs, New-York, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. "We concur with other papers in recommending Dr. Larmont and his work."—Courier des Etats Unis, German die Reform, Dispatch, Staats Zeitung, Atlas, Medical Review.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE—Containing nearly 300 pages and 150 fine plates and engravings of the anatomy of the sexual organs, in a state of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, its deplorable consequences upon the mind and body, with the author's plan of treatment—the only rational and successful mode of cure, as shown by the report of cases treated. A truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain doubts of their physical condition. Sent, free of postage, to any address on receipt of 25 cents, in specie or postage stamps. Address Dr. LA CROIX, No. 31 Maiden-lane, Albany, N. Y.

ADVICE TO MARRIED LADIES, who require a safe and certain remedy for removing obstructions, from whatever cause, can rely upon the celebrated INFALLIBLE FRENCH FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS, No. 1, price $1 a box, to restore the monthly sickness in forty-eight hours, if of short standing; but obstinate cases, of long standing, may require No. 2, which are four degrees stronger than No. 1, and can never fail, are safe and healthy, price $5 a box. Sold at No. 127 Liberty-st., and 162 Chambers-st., or sent by mail, with full instructions: address Box 2,359 N. Y. P. O.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in case of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchased directly of Dr. POWERS, 61 Franklin-st., N. Y.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED.—DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, informs ladies that "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is for every lady, but more particularly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., and No. 1 Vesey-st.

EDWARD H. DIXON, M. D., EDITOR OF the SCALPEL, attends exclusively to operative surgery and the more obscure diseases of the pelvic viscera, stricture, hernia, hemorrhoids, varicocele and fistula. No. 42 5th av., between 10th and 11th sts. Office hours from 8 to 9, 1 to 3, and 7 to 9 evenings.

THOUSANDS ARE RUINED BEYOND REDEMPTION in this life by not calling on Dr. HUNTER sooner or later. He can cure the worst cases of secret disease in a shorter time than any other physician, or no pay taken. Skeptics and doubters will please call and read lots of reliable certificates of cures made within the last thirty years of almost hopeless cases, that had had the benefit of dozens of our most eminent physicians and surgeons. Dr. Hunter is in constant attendance from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Charges moderate and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. His wonderful medical discovery, DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures private diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, and possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. $2 per vial. Book, 50 pages, gratis.

INSTRUCTION.

WRITING WITHOUT A TEACHER.

Of the Babbittonian Penmanship, eminent teachers and periodicals speak as follows:

"The best arranged and most scientific system extant."—M. J. Francisco, Pres. of Business College.

"Beautiful copies for practice. The whole art of penmanship is clearly explained and illustrated. To all mechanics and young men whose opportunities are limited, this system will be found highly valuable, while for family use among children, it is most useful. By its aid, we think almost any person may learn to write in good style without an instructor."—Scientific American.

"The latest invention and the best. The superiority of the plan is that by a series of models and instructions, any boy or girl twelve years old can make a first-class penman without schools or teachers."—Christian Herald.

"It is chaste and beautiful, and at the same time so very simple that any one may use the cards without the aid of a teacher."—N. Y. Evangelist.

THE SENATE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Concerning the Duties of Health Wardens.

Testimony of Albert J. Terhune, John Donnelly, Daniel Leamy and Others.

The committee appointed by the State Senate to investigate the workings of the various city departments, resumed its sessions yesterday at No. 75 Duane-street.

The examination of the City Inspector's Department was continued, Mr. Graham appearing as counsel for Mr. Boole, and Ex-Judge Whiting for the Citizens' Association.

The first witness sworn was Albert J. Terhune, Health Warden of the Ninth Ward. He deposed that he had been in office twenty-two months, during which time he had faithfully performed his duties, reporting to Mr. Hall, Clerk in the Bureau of Sanitary Inspection, every day. The duties of Health Warden and his assistant require all the time of those officials. Witness never knew of an instance where a Health Warden had refused to visit a house where there was sickness.

Mr. Graham told the committee that Mr. Carr had described the Health Wardens as being the most ignorant men in the city, and he wished to produce some of them to show the class of men they were.

On his cross-examination he said that he visited every house in the ward, and had made reports; he had been in the house No. 453 Hudson-street, where there was small-pox, on March 7; a man died there of that disease; witness went there the next day after he died; the body was removed within twenty-four hours after death; he could not tell whether a patient had typhoid fever or some other disease, by looking at him; could not tell the earliest case of small-pox in his ward; the latest was in Perry-street; when he found a case of small-pox, whether the patient was alive or dead, he ordered the house to be fumigated; did not know that burning sulpher was dangerous to health and produced carbonic acid gas; did not prescribe for cholera infantum in his ward; knew of nothing that he could suggest to improve the sanitary condition of any district; did not believe that with the aid of a policeman he could dispense with the services of an assistant; there were about ten tenement houses of five or six stories in his district; could not tell how many houses of three or four stories in the district.

Mr. John Donnelly, sworn, testified that he was Health Warden of the Sixth Ward since the 15th of January, 1862; his assistant performed his duty; made his reports daily at the City Inspector's office; the duties of the office could not be performed by the police in addition to their own duties; never had any reluctance in going where there had been disease.

The Chairman said he would wish to have the question put to the witness whether these duties could be performed not by the present numerical force of the police, but by an increased number.

Witness thought that the police force would, if detailed for the exclusive duty of Health Warden, do the duty of Health Warden as faithfully as others. But the police should be confined to that duty alone in order to discharge it properly.

Cross-examined—Witness was engaged in the milk business before being Health Warden; was not a physician; cases of small-pox and typhoid fever had raged in his district—the Sixth Ward.

Mr. Graham—The Sixth Ward is known as the "Bloody Sixth."

Judge Whiting—The Five Points, Shinbone Alley, and those other subterranean places, are in the Sixth Ward.

Witness—Contributed a month's pay to the fund for defending the wanton raid made upon the Street Department; made an assignment of a month's pay, $93, for that purpose; made an assignment of a month's pay once before; the phrase "wanton raid" is the description of the attack made upon the patronage of the office of City Inspector.

Daniel Leamy, sworn—Resided in the Fourth Ward; had lived in New-York 29 years; was Health Warden in the Fourth Ward; was two terms in the Assembly; had never known any case where a Health Warden had refused to go where disease was to be found.

On cross-examination witness stated that typhus fever was the prevailing disease in his Ward. The term hygienic he supposed meant the odor arising from stagnant water. [Laughter.]

Mr. Graham—I suppose you do not understand Greek? No, sir.

Mr. R. T. Entwhistle, Health Warden of the Tenth Ward, on cross-examination, deposed that the Civil Justices had often refused to enforce Corporation ordinances relative to nuisances; he knew of such a case; the man on whose premises the nuisances existed was named Reed, a wealthy citizen, and he lived at No. 214 Broadway; the Justice dismissed the suit, and complainant afterward recovered heavy damages on a civil suit; had reported one case of nuisance to the Corporation Attorney; thought the Health Wardens should have power to arrest parties throwing garbage, &c., in the streets and refusing to obey the health laws; witness was a printer by trade.

Mr. James Lawrence, Archibald Walker, George Meneran and Wm. Lord were also called to the stand, but no evidence of importance was obtained from them.

The committee then took a short recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After recess, Dr. Cyrus Ramsay, Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection, was recalled: He identified several papers produced in evidence; he said that half of the emigrants who reach this city remain here; he thought that the health of the city was improving.

John H. Brady, Deputy Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection, was recalled: He said that Mr. Carr read a part of the sketch of Mr. Boole which was published in the Era; Mr. Carr told the witness that he had written the article without the knowledge of Mr. Boole, and wished to keep it secret; witness had contributed his pay for the month of March to defend the City Inspector's Department.

Mr. Graham read the articles of incorporation of the New-York Sanitary and Chemical Manufacturing Compost Company, which he offered in evidence. He also offered in evidence a statement taken from the Comptroller's report, showing that the contingent expenses for the City Inspector's Department, from June 21, 1859, to Feb. 6, 1861, under Mr. Delavan, were $30,275 01. From the 15th of December, 1863, to June 14, 1864, the amount of unclaimed money from the City Inspector's Department was $492 58. From June 18, 1864, to December 17, 1864, the amount of unclaimed money was $2 921 58.

Mr. Graham explained to the committee that it was by his advice that Mr. Boole paid no attention to the Mayor's order of suspension. Mr. Graham believed the Mayor was mistaken in regard to his powers, and that the Governor was the only person to whom Mr. Boole was responsible.

Charles Zeise and Louis Schemple were examined as to the sale of offices in City Inspector's Department, but did not appear to know anything about the matter.

Mr. W. Herring, W. R. Chambers, Wainright and other witnesses were recalled, but their testimony was not important.

The committee adjourned to 10:30 o'clock this morning, when the investigation of the City Inspector's Department will be concluded. In the afternoon, the Comptroller's Department will be taken up.

WAR DEPARTMENT SPECIAL AGENCY.

The Bounty-Jumpers off to Fort Lafayette—Letter from a Broker.

A large number of Col. Baker's prisoners were held at Odd Fellows' Hall, Hoboken, over Sunday, awaiting the filling of a requisition for uniforms, and, that they might not be deprived of religious instruction and advice, the Colonel invited Rev. Mr. Gardner to address them in the afternoon. It is said that the prisoners did not worship devoutly on the occasion. At nightfall on Sunday everything was in readiness for the voyage down the harbor; but it was deemed prudent to postpone the start until 5 o'clock yesterday morning. At that hour the prisoners were ironed in couples, and a chain was made fast to every iron, rendering the escape of any one prisoner utterly impossible. The line was then taken up for the boat, which lay at a pier near the ferry, and the gang was put aboard under an escort of well-armed regulars, and taken off to the fort. There were very few spectators, the hour at which the prisoners were marched down Washington-street being rather earlier than suited the convenience of our neighbors over the river. The chain-gang went off, as a whole, in good humor, some laughing and bandying jokes, others smoking, and only one or two giving utterance to profanity.

Denis O'Sullivan, one of the bounty-brokers, seemed very anxious to communicate with Supervisor Smith, and, as he could do so only by letter, he penned a note and gave it to Officer D. V. Colclazer, to be taken to Col. Baker. We reproduce this letter literally, as it reveals the character and calibre of the class of men with whom Col. Baker has been dealing:

March 1st, 1865.

Dear frind Mr. Smith i want you to goe to Mr. Smith the supervisor tell him i want him use his influence in my behafe Mr. Smith i want you to Come over to hoabokin and inquire for the sisters of Charity. My Little geral is plased thair and see her your self, and then goe to Albany and see the governor fínton i had nothing to Do with this Case and Can sow prove by getting opportunity to Do soe. I remain your frind

DENIS O'SULLIVAN.

Mr. Coonel Baker please to comucate the above to my frind if that in Couplit with your duty.

Col. Baker has gone to Washington to consult with Gen. Halleck and Provost-Marshal-Gen. Fry, and on his return is expected to be able to say what disposition shall be made of his prisoners. The drift of opinion, yesterday, was toward sending them immediately to the front.

COL. BAKER'S ARRESTS.

Why Men are Arrested and How They Secure Their Release—Explanation of the Cases of Chapman and Dr. Woodman.

The people of this city have wondered at the developments of rascality made by Col. Baker's bureau, and have in the main indorsed his actions. Quite naturally, however, considerable questioning has been raised as to the arbitrary nature of the arrests, and the apparently irresponsible power in the Colonel's hands. A few facts in regard to this branch of the matter will settle the question in the mind of every honest man. Desiring that nothing illegal (technically speaking) should be done, the Secretary of War desired Hon. L. E. Chittenden, Ex-Registrar of the Treasury, to sit with Col. Baker and advise him in all matters of doubt, and to determine the bearings of the law in all cases of uncertainty. Since that time Mr. Chittenden has been in constant consultation with Col. Baker, and not a case has been passed upon either hastily or without regard to the law.

The cases of two men, whose arrest and subsequent release have afforded sundry malcontents, individual and professional, with texts of malediction and great grumbling, may be stated here, as apt illustrations of the way in which these arrests are brought about, and how releases are secured. One is that of Mr. Chapman, a Williamsburgh carpenter, who was charged with swindling an old lady out of her son's bounty. Mr. Chapman was taken before Col. Baker, detained at the Astor House several days, and then released. At once his friends and the carpers aforementioned insinuated that Baker has blackmailed Chapman out of $475 and then let him go. The facts are these: Mrs. ——, the mother of the boy, called on Col. Baker and told her story, which was reduced to an affidavit, the purport of which was that Chapman had attended to the enlistment of the minor, kept and spent his bounty and refused to render an account of it. She swore to the statement. Chapman was sent for and examined by Mr. Chittenden. He admitted everything, but said he had spent the money and could not repay it. Col. Baker told him he must refund it, or be sent to Washington for trial. Mrs. Chapman also called, and in the presence of the writer and half a dozen others, confirmed her husband's story, and accused him of having gone from place to place with the boy, spreeing on the cash, and then said that the money had been used to pay off a mortgage. Finally a former employer, or friend of Chapman, advanced the money, and then, of course, he was released, and the cash paid to the mother of the boy. So much for that.

The other case is that of Dr. Woodman, of the Second District, Williamsburgh. According to the very indiscreet and entirely erroneous statements of the Doctor's friends and certain uncertain newspapers, Col. Baker arrested an innocent man, kept him several days in durance vile, and finally finding that he made a grand mistake, was compelled to release him. The facts are these, and the Doctor will doubtless corroborate the statement, for the benefit of his unbelieving friends. Col. Baker has received a large number of letters making complaint of certain transactions at the Second District Provost-Marshal's office, while under the control of Mr. Maddox. It was stated that Mr. Nathans, the broker, (now in custody,) "ran the office;" that names were taken from the list, that cards were taken from the wheel, and that by the operations of Nathans, the public was bled, of which bleeding benefit Dr. Woodman received his full share. The accumulation of complaints became so great that the matter was investigated. It was ascertained that Woodman bore an excellent reputation, that he was appointed at the suggestion of his brother-in-law, Hon. James Humphrey, and that he was a very efficient man. This suggested caution. It was also discovered that he was on very intimate terms with Nathans, and it was in consequence of certain transactions with him that he was sent for. On his arrival at the Astor House the Doctor saw Col. Baker and Mr. Chittenden. Baker asked him if he wasn't making money pretty fast? He said he was. He asked him how much money Nathans had paid him on the 1st of January? He replied, "Nothing; he gave me $1,000." He admitted that he had received money from Nathans at various times, and that he presumed it was to assure Nathans' footing with the new Provost-Marshal as it had been with the former one. The Doctor is an intelligent man and acted far more sensibly in the matter than his friends have since. Mr. Humphrey, the member-elect from the Third Congressional District, and Mr. Jenks, one of the leading lawyers of Kings County, called at the Astor House in relation to the case. They saw Col. Baker and Mr. Chittenden, and also Dr. Woodman, who had that moment sent down a letter for his wife. In their presence he admitted that he had taken the money from Nathans, but explained that he had done nothing in return for it; he had not defrauded the United States Government. In consequence of Mr. Humphrey's suggestions, and arrangements of entire understanding between the Doctor and the Colonel, he was permitted to return to his duties. Under the Congressional act, he is charged by Mr. Chittenden as "taking a bribe while in the service of the United States." Such is the history of Dr. Woodman and the dreadful treatment he experienced at the Astor House.

Not a case has yet been brought before the gentlemen of this bureau in which they felt warranted to make arrests, but has eventuated either in the confession of the prisoner or the complete substantiation of the charges.

In consequence of Mr. Chittenden's suggestion, the commission before which these men will be tried will sit in New-York rather than in Washington.

DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST.

Case of Kennedy—His Doom Announced to Him—Interesting Facts in the Case.

Gen. Dix has not yet fixed the day for the execution of the spy and incendiary Robert Cobb Kennedy, alias Stanton, but will do so as soon as the action of the court-martial has been approved by the Secretary of War. At the conclusion of Kennedy's trial, which was published exclusively in the Times, the court was cleared for deliberation, and after a fair and candid consideration of the entire matter, the prisoner was found guilty of each charge and specification; guilty of being a spy, of irregular warfare, and of setting fire, in company with six confederates, to hotels and places of amusement, which were crowded with men, women and children. Gen. Dix approved the verdict and adopted the sentence, which was: "That the said Kennedy shall be hung by the neck until he be dead, at such time and place as the Commanding-General may direct."

On Sunday, Major Bolles, the Judge-Advocate of the department, returned from Boston, where he was detained on business connected with departmental trials, and after the record of the court-martial was shown him, Gen. Dix detailed Capt. Von Eckstein, of his staff, to proceed to Fort Lafayette and notify Kennedy of the finding of the court. The Captain saw Kennedy in the room of Col. Burke, and informed him of the result of his trial. He was astonished and surprised at the verdict, and at the sentence. This is partially attributable to his peculiar temperament, and partially to the singular deficiency in his logical power. Although born of a good family, and surrounded with the possibilities of culture, Kennedy is almost stupid; and although possessed of much of the low cunning so often found in stupid people, is by no means as shrewd as were his confederates in crime. In religion, Kennedy is a materialist, and looks to no point beyond the present life. He regards this as the end, and in this differs widely from Capt. Beale, who was encouraged, consoled and sustained to the very last by a simple, childlike faith in the power of the Saviour and the certainty of a happier future for those who, like him, trusted alone in omnipotential love. There is no hope in Kennedy's breast for a respite or a final favorable interference. From the very first, his counsel, Gen. Stoughton, felt that his case was hopeless; and when fact after fact and admission of crime came out, it was resolved into a simple question of time.

Kennedy will be kept at Fort Lafayette, in "Room No. 1," next to the guard-house, until next week, when he will be taken to Fort Columbus and guarded closely till the day of his death. It is customary, singularly in this and all Christian lands, to hang criminals on Friday—a day made memorable in all time by the death of Christ upon the cross, and which one would suppose should ever thereafter be held sacred from other executions, and in accordance with that habit, Gen. Dix will probably direct that Mr. Kennedy be hung on Governor's Island on Friday, a week from the ensuing Friday.

No person can be permitted to see Kennedy for any purpose whatever, except such friends as he may desire to see, his counsel, clergymen, and other officials.

St. Patrick's Day.

The anniversary of the birth of Ireland's patron saint will be celebrated on Friday next by a grand parade of civic societies, thirty-three of which will take part therein. The Sixty-ninth and Ninety-ninth Regiments, under Cols. Bagley and Mahoney, will head the procession, and the line of march will be down East Broadway and Chatham-street to the east gate of the Park, where the procession will pass in review before the Mayor and Common Council; thence up Broadway to Fourteenth-street, Fourteenth-street to Seventh-avenue, Seventh-avenue to Thirty-fourth-street, Thirty-fourth-street to Second-avenue, down Second-avenue to Twenty-third-street, Twenty-third-street to First-avenue, First-avenue to Eighth-street, Eighth-street to Cooper Institute, and there dismiss. In the evening, a grand banquet will be given by the Knights of St. Patrick, and also by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. The banquet of the former will take place at the Metropolitan Hotel at 7 o'clock precisely, and the latter at Delmonico's, Fifth-avenue and Fourteenth-street. Mr. W. R. Roberts will preside at the Knights' dinner, and Mr. Richard Bell at that of the Friendly Sons. The President of the Knights, Mr. W. R. Roberts, will wear for the first time a splendid gold badge, which will be the distinguishing mark of that officer at all future banquets. The tickets for both banquets are nearly all disposed of. The parade promises to be the grandest that has yet taken place on any similar occasion.

An Action for Libel Against the Sunday Mercury.

IMPORTANT AS TO WHAT ARE PRIVILEGED PROCEEDINGS WHEN PUBLISHED BY THE PRESS—ARE GRAND INQUESTS A JUDICIAL BODY?

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge McCunn and a Jury.

John H. McCabe vs. William Cauldwell and Horace P. Whitney.—The action was brought by Mr. McCabe, as plaintiff, to recover the sum of $25,000 damages, which he alleges that he has sustained by reason of a libel upon his character. The defendants were at the time mentioned in the complaint, namely, on the 12th of October, 1862, the editors and proprietors of the paper, known as the Sunday Mercury. The complaint goes on to recite that on the day mentioned, the defendants published a highly libelous, defamatory and scandalous story in their paper concerning the plaintiff, whereby he was exceedingly damaged in his good name, fame and reputation. The defendants, in their answer, admitted the publication of the article in question, but claimed that the matter therein contained was true, and that it was published from good motives, and for purposes which, they alleged, were justifiable. The defendants, through their counsel, contended, moreover, that the published matter, which is by the plaintiff alleged to be libelous, was such as they had a right to publish, in consequence of its having been the report of judicial proceedings.

The facts of the case, as they have thus far transpired are briefly as follows:

The plaintiff in Oct. 1862, and for sometime prior thereto was Superintendent of the Hedding Methodist Sunday-school in Little Montgomery-street, Jersey City. He was also a class leader in the church, and was regarded by the members and congregation as a very active and exemplary member. About this time a young woman named Annie McIvor became an inmate of his family as seamstress. She had belonged to his class in Sunday-school and was also afterward a member of his class in the church. While the young woman was living with him, his (McCabe's) house, as he alleges was set on fire, and the latter had Miss McIvor arrested on the charge of arson. On the other hand, a complaint was made before the Grand Jury of Hudson County, N. J., by Miss McIvor, in which it was charged that Mr. McCabe had been guilty of great improprieties and gross misconduct toward her; that while she was in an unprotected condition—being an orphan and having no relatives in Jersey City, where she resided—he imposed upon her credulity and took advantage of her innocence by means of drugs, &c. That he did this while he was her teacher and spiritual guide. The outrages committed upon her by him, it is alleged, were of too gross and improper a nature to be made public. The testimony given before the grand jury in Jersey City, or at least a large portion of it, was obtained by a reporter of the Sunday Mercury, and published in that journal on the next day, Oct. 12, 1862. That paper also published a statement that McCabe had been dismissed from the church in consequence of his misconduct toward the young lady. On the part of the plaintiff it was contended that the entire story of the young woman was a sheer fabrication, concocted by herself and friends for the purpose of revenge on him for having made the charge of arson against her.

When the case was called on yesterday, a jury was empanneled to try the issues of fact involved. The plaintiff was represented by Mr. R. S. Huntley, and Messrs. Fullerton and A. Oakey Hall appeared for the defendants.

The counsel for the plaintiff, in opening, said that the libel complained of was one of the most unjust, unjustifiable and unprovoked attacks which any New-York paper, celebrated as the press of this city has become for its libels, ever inflicted upon the character of an innocent, unoffending, and, as he believed, a Christian gentleman. Not content with denouncing him as a man in his official relations to the church, of which, up to the date of the Mercury's publication, he was, so far as any human being knew, a bright and exemplary member, the defendants had attacked him in his private life, in his social relations. This was stabbing a man in the most vital part. Newspapers had no business to touch a man there: they ought not to meddle with that which does not concern the public.

Mr. Bloodgood was called as a witness, and by him plaintiff proved the circulation of the Mercury—the fact of the publication of the alleged libel being admitted by the defendants. The article complained of was then read in evidence, and the plaintiff rested.

MOTION TO DISMISS THE COMPLAINT.

Mr. A. O. Hall then moved to dismiss the complaint, on the ground that the publication complained of was merely the narrative of certain events that had been brought out and testified to by witnesses in a judicial proceeding; that it purported to be a fair and correct report of what transpired before the Grand Jury of Hudson County, New-Jersey; that by the statute of this State all reporters had a right to report and editors a right to publish such proceedings, unless express malice could be shown; that inasmuch as the complaint did not allege that defendants had been actuated by malice, and there were no inuendoes in the complaint which intimated malice, the plaintiff could not have offered proof of malice if he had wished to do so. Mr. Hall entered into an elaborate argument and cited numerous decisions to sustain his position.

Mr. Huntley replied at length, and was followed by Mr. Fullerton, on behalf of the defendants.

At the conclusion of the discussion, the court decided to postpone the question as to whether the defendants were entitled to a dismissal of the complaint, until Wednesday morning, at 11 o'clock.

To-day being a day of general election in this State, the courts have all adjourned until Wednesday.

This board met at 2 P. M. yesterday, Mr. Jones, the President, in the chair.

A resolution was adopted requesting the County Clerk to report to the board a list of all persons acting as Commissioners of Deeds, with the date of appointment.

A communication was received from the Comptroller, stating that the fund for the relief of the families of volunteers is exhausted. It was placed on file.

An ordinance was presented by Alderman O'Brien, creating the office of Superintendent of the City Telegraphs, with a salary of $3,000 per annum. It was laid over.

The report of the Committee on Ferries, directing the Comptroller to sell at auction the right to run a ferry from the foot of Spring-street to Hoboken, N. J., was adopted.

A resolution from the other board, authorizing the City Inspector to make a contract for the removal of night soil, the contractor paying $4,000 per annum into the city treasury for the privilege of removing the soil, was concurred in.

The ordinance appropriating a further sum of $500,000 for the relief of families of volunteers, was taken up, and after some trifling amendments had been made, was laid over.

An ordinance creating a Sergeant-at-Arms to the Mayor, at a salary of $1,500 per annum, was laid over.

A statement was received from the Finance Department, showing a balance in the treasury, March 11, of $556,025 04.

Alderman Farley's resolution relative to donating the State a site for a capitol, was referred to the committee having the whole matter in charge, and the board then adjourned till to-morrow.

German Sabbath Meeting in Cooper Institute.

The Germans pastors and congregations of New-York held a meeting at Cooper Institute, on Sunday evening, for the purpose of promoting the better observance of the Lord's Day. The hall was crowded by a devout and respectable audience. On the platform were the German pastors of all denominations, many of the most prominent English ministers, the members of the New-York Sabbath Committee, and a number of distinguished laymen connected with the various benevolent movements of the city. The exercises were in the German and English language, and characterized by deep interest and solemnity to the close.

After an invocation by the President, the German branch of the New-York Young Men's Christian Association, assisted by the choir of St. Mathew's Lutheran Church, sung with good effect the famous Sunday ode of Uhland—"Das ist der Tag der Herrn." An appropriate prayer was then offered by Rev. Fred. Burke, of the German Reformed Church in Suffolk-street, after which the assembly united, as with one heart and voice, in singing a Sabbath hymn of Dr. Tholuck—"O Sabbath which the Lord hath made." Rev. Dr. Schaff then made the first German address. He gave a brief account of the origin and progress of the Sabbath reform movement in New-York since 1857, and its effect upon the peace and order of the city; urged the importance of maintaining the ground already gained, and uniting in vigorous efforts of virtue and religion; surveyed the whole foreign population of the country in its moral aspects and social importance, and advocated its spiritual assimilation to our nationality by the leaven of pure evangelical Christianity, which alone can save the country and bind together, in the bonds of peace and harmony, the different nationalities of Europe now crowding upon our continent.

In the place of the Rev. Dr. Mann, of Philadelphia, who was prevented by sickness, the Rev. Dr. Schramm, pastor of Dr. Tyng's German Mission Church, made the second German address on the blessings of the proper observance of the Lord's day in the family, the church and the State. The congregation then sung Luther's hymn—"A Tower of Safety our God is Still," which has been translated by more than a dozen hands into English. The effect of this war song of the Reformation was thrilling. In connection with it, the Rev. Dr. Adams remarked that he was in possession of the original manuscript of the hymn, composed in 1530. The second part of the exercises was taken up with spirited and stirring English addresses, by Mr. Norman White, the Chairman of the New-York Sabbath Committee, the Rev. Drs. Adams, Prentiss, Mullenberg, and others, who expressed their cordial sympathy with the moral and spiritual welfare of the vast and growing German population of this city. The meeting closed with singing the German Te Deum, Nan dauket alle Gott, and the benediction by the President.

Such a meeting cannot but have a good effect upon the cause of social order and quiet on Sunday, and the moral and social elevation of the vast and growing foreign population of our city, of which the Germans alone number at least 150,000.

Movement of Troops.

Many soldiers are now going to the field from this port. The number averages about 1,500 a day. To-day 2,800 are to embark on the following-named vessels: Steamer Atlantic, for Fortress Monroe, 1,000 men; steamer Thos. A. Scott, for Fortress Monroe, 400 men; steamer Ajax, for Beaufort, N. C., 1,000 men; steamer Fulton, for Hilton Head, S. C., about 400 men. Squads will also go by rail, and the whole number will exceed 3,000.

The steam-transport Illinois arrived from Fort Delaware yesterday morning, with 110 men of the One Hundred and Forty-fourth New-York Regiment, who acted as guard of prisoners to Fort Delaware.

Naval Movements.

OFFICIAL CHANGES AT THE NAVY-YARD.

Lieut.-Com. Leonard Paulding, (son of Rear-Admiral Paulding) who has held the responsible position of Lieut.-Commander at the Brooklyn Navy-yard, is, on the reporting of his relief, ordered to command the Monocacy, 10 guns and 1,030 tons capacity. Lieut. Com. Jas. E. Jarrett will hold the position so long and ably filled by his predecessor, and will assume his duties this week. It is expected that the Monocacy will depart for European waters. Both of these gentlemen will share alike in the regrets and congratulations of their numerous friends in naval circles—regrets from the friends they leave behind, and congratulations from the friends that receive them in their new positions. It is reported that Capt. Case, Executive Officer of the Yard, will be relieved from command and ordered to the Mediterranean as soon as the Colorado has been thoroughly overhauled, which may be in June next. The famous 52 gun ship Colorado will be his flagship in those waters.

LAW REPORTS.

Criminal Business.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Russel.

An extra panel of one hundred jurors was summoned for yesterday morning. Out of this number only twenty-two answered to their names, and every one of the twenty-two applied to the Court to be excused from serving. A fine of $25 each was imposed upon the non-attending jurors.

Ellen Duffy, a dishonest domestic, who had previously plead guilty to an attempt at grand larceny, was brought up for sentence. Assistant District-Attorney Bedford stated that when he accepted a plea of an attempt in this case, he did it in the belief that it was the woman's first offence, and that her previous character had been good. Since then he had been informed that she had stolen various articles from different parties by whom she had been employed as servant, and that it was only by chance that she had not been heretofore arrested. His Honor said that he had himself made inquiries in the matter, and was convinced that the prisoner's character was bad. She was sent to the State Prison for two years.

ANOTHER DISHONEST SERVANT.

Maria Connolly was brought to the bar for trial upon an indictment for grand larceny. Prisoner plead guilty, and his Honor said to her in passing sentence, that this was another of those cases now so frequent of domestics robbing their employers. There were no mitigating circumstances in this case; the amount of property taken was about $600 and a severe punishment was necessary. The sentence of the court was that she be confined in the State Prison at hard labor for three years.

John Sutherland was tried for burglary in the third degree. Mr. Jacob Snyder, the complainant, testified that he was the proprietor of a watch and jewelry-store at No. 38½ Bowery. On the morning of the 11th of January witness discovered that some one had attempted to cut open a shutter put up against the front window of his store. There were several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry in his store. The officer who made the arrest testified that he saw prisoner and another man near the store about 2 o'clock in the morning of Jan. 11; both ran, and witness pursued prisoner for a few hundred feet and caught him. A subsequent examination of the window showed that the shutter had been tampered with.

The prisoner produced several witnesses to show that his previous character had been excellent, and that he was a sober, hard-working and industrious man.

After considering on the case until the hour of adjournment, the jury came into court and declared that they were unable to agree. They were discharged.

Rose Crawford, an elderly female, residing in a tenement-house in Worth-street, was tried for stealing a watch, the property of one of her neighbors. The evidence against her was conclusive, and the jury found her guilty of petit larceny, and she was remanded.

The court adjourned until Wednesday, to-day being a general election day.

Counterfeit Currency.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE.

Before Commissioner Osborne.

The United States vs. Henry Pinchard.—The defendant was brought up for examination upon complaint of Julia Goddard, who charged him with passing upon her two counterfeit twenty-five cent currency notes. The defendant showed that he was a retail grocer in New Chambers-street, and that he did a large business, sometimes having several hundred customers a day, in his store, and taking in a large amount of money in small sums; that in the hurry of business, he might have paid out this money but knew nothing about it. The Commissioner held that there was no evidence of guilty knowledge of the character of the money, or intent to commit a crime, and discharged the accused.

NEW SKIRT.
THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE IN HOOP-SKIRTS.
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.
WESTS, BRADLEY & CARY (late J. I. & J. O. West), SOLE PROPRIETORS AND MANUFACTURERS, No. 97 CHAMBERS and Nos. 79 and 81 Reade-st., New-York.
THIS INVENTION consists of DUPLEX (or two) ELLIPTIC Steel Springs, ingeniously BRAIDED, TIGHTLY and FIRMLY together, EDGE to EDGE, making the TOUGHEST, most FLEXIBLE, ELASTIC and DURABLE SPRING ever used. They seldom BEND or BREAK, like the single springs, and consequently preserve their PERFECT and BEAUTIFUL SHAPE TWICE as LONG as any other Skirt.
THE WONDERFUL FLEXIBILITY and great COMFORT and PLEASURE to any LADY WEARING the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT will be experienced particularly in all CROWDED ASSEMBLIES, OPERA, CARRIAGE, RAILROAD-CARS, CHURCH-PEWS, ARM-CHAIRS, for PROMENADE and HOUSE-DRESS, as the SKIRT can be FOLDED when in use, to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a SILK or MUSLIN DRESS.
A LADY having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SPRING SKIRT for a SINGLE DAY, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. FOR CHILDREN, MISSES and YOUNG LADIES are superior to all others.
THEY are the best QUALITY in every part, and UNQUESTIONABLY the LIGHTEST, most DESIRABLE, COMFORTABLE and ECONOMICAL SKIRT ever made. FOR SALE in all FIRST-CLASS STORES in THIS CITY and throughout the UNITED STATES, HAVANA DE CUBA, MEXICO, SOUTH AMERICA and the WEST INDIES.
INQUIRE FOR THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT.
